HOUSE No. 1373

By Mrs. Haddad of Somerset, a petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 1373) of Patricia A. Haddad and others relative to the selection and qualification of jurors. The Judiciary.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the Year Two Thousand Thirteen

An Act To Repeal Chapter 234.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Chapter 234 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition, 2 is hereby repealed.

3 SECTION 2. Chapter 234A of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official 4 Edition, is hereby amended by inserting after section 27 the following section:-

5 Section 27A. After a summons has been received by a juror as hereinbefore provided, no 6 person shall, except as otherwise provided by law, question any juror so summoned for 7 the
8 purpose of obtaining information as to his background in connection with his jury duty.

9 SECTION 3. Said chapter 234A is hereby further amended by inserting after section 30
10 the following section:-

11 Section 30A. If, by challenge or otherwise, a sufficient number of jurors duly drawn and 12 summoned cannot be obtained for the trial of a case, the court shall cause jurors to be returned 13 from the bystanders or from the county at large, to complete the panel, if there are on the jury not 14 less than seven of the jurors who were originally drawn and summoned as before provided.

15 Before causing additional jurors to be returned for service the jury pool officer shall file 16 an affidavit with the court stating that more than the usual number of jurors are required on the 17 case and that the jury pool has been exhausted. The judge sitting on the case shall make a finding 18 as to the accuracy of said affidavit prior to the return of additional jurors.

19 The jurors from the bystanders shall be returned by the sheriff or his deputy or by a 20 disinterested person appointed therefor by the court, and shall be such as are qualified and liable 21 to be drawn as jurors.

22 SECTION 4. Said chapter 234A is hereby further amended by inserting after section 67
23 the following three sections:-

24 Section 67A. Upon motion of either party, the court shall, or the parties or their attorneys 25 may under the direction of the court, examine on oath a person who is called as a juror 26 therein, to learn whether he is related to either party or has any interest in the case, or has 27 expressed or formed an opinion, or is sensible of any bias or prejudice, therein; and the objecting 28 party may introduce other competent evidence in support of the objection. If the court finds that 29 the juror does not stand indifferent in the case, another shall be called in his stead. In a criminal 30 case such examination shall include questions designed to learn whether such juror understands 31 that a defendant is presumed innocent until proven guilty, that the commonwealth has the burden 32 of proving guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, and that the defendant need not present evidence in 33 his behalf. If the court finds that such juror does not so understand, another shall be called in his 34 stead.

35 For the purpose of determining whether a juror stands indifferent in the case, if it appears 36 that, as a result of the impact of considerations which may cause a decision or decisions to be 37 made in whole or in part upon issues extraneous to the case, including, but not limited to,
38 community attitudes, possible exposure to potentially prejudicial material or possible 39 preconceived opinions toward the credibility of certain classes of persons, the juror may not 40 stand indifferent, the court shall, or the parties or their attorneys may, with the permission and 41 under the direction of the court, examine the juror specifically with respect to such 42 considerations, attitudes, exposure, opinions or any other matters which may, as aforesaid, cause 43 a decision or decisions to be made in whole or in part upon issues extraneous to the issues in the 44 case. Such examination may include a brief statement of the facts of the case, to the extent the 45 facts are appropriate and relevant to the issue of such examination, and shall be conducted 46 individually and outside the presence of other persons about to be called as jurors or already 47 called.

48 Section 67B. In a civil case each party shall be entitled to four peremptory challenges.
49 Such challenges shall be made before the commencement of the trial and may be made after it 50 has been determined that a person called to serve as a juror stands indifferent in the case.

51 Section 67C. In indictments and penal actions for the recovery of a forfeiture, it shall not 52 be a challenge for cause to a juror that he is liable to pay taxes in a county, city or town which 53 may be benefited by such recovery.

54 SECTION 5. Said chapter 234A is hereby further amended by inserting after section 68
55 the following two sections:-

56 Section 68A. If a jury, after due and thorough deliberation, return to court without 57 having agreed on a verdict, the court may state anew the evidence or any part thereof, explain to 58 them anew the law applicable to the case and send them out for further deliberation; but if they 59 return a second time without having agreed on a verdict, they shall not be sent out again without 60 their own consent, unless they ask from the court some further explanation of the law.

61 Section 68B. In any civil action the jury shall be instructed that the agreement of five 62 sixths of its members shall be sufficient to render any special or general verdict.

63 SECTION 6. Said chapter 234A is hereby further amended by inserting after section 69
64 the following section:-

65 Section 69A. The court may, upon motion, allow the jury in a civil case to view the 66 premises or place in question or any property, matter or thing relative to the case if the party 67 making the motion advances an amount sufficient to defray the expenses of the jury and the 68 officers who attend them in taking the view, which shall be taxed as costs, if the party who 69 advanced them prevails. The court may order a view by a jury impanelled to try a criminal case.

71 the following section:-

72 Section 74A. If either party to a case at the sitting at which a verdict is returned, either 73 before or after the trial, gives to any of the jurors who try the case anything by way of treat or 74 gratuity, the court may, upon motion of the adverse party, set aside the verdict and award a new 75 trial.
