The Legislature declares that the authority for this act is the following:

- 1. The Tenth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that the United States Federal government is authorized to exercise only those powers delegated to it in the United States Constitution and nothing more. The guaranty of those limitations on federal power is a matter of contract between the state and people of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the United States at of the time that the United States Constitution was agreed upon and adopted by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the United States;
- 2. Article IV of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts provides that the people of the commonwealth have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves, as a free, sovereign, and independent state; and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right, which is not, or may not hereafter, be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in Congress assembled;

- 3. Article VI, Clause 2 of the United States Constitution provides that laws of the United States are the supreme law of the land provided that they are made in pursuance of the powers delegated to the federal government in the United States Constitution;

- 5. Article XXVIII of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts provides that no person can in any case be subject to law-martial, or to any penalties or pains, by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature;
- 6. The First Amendment of the United States Constitution provides that the Congress of the United States shall make no law prohibiting the right of the people to petition the

 - SECTION 3. NEW LAW A new section of law to be codified in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Statutes as Section (NUMBER) of Title (NUMBER), unless there is created a duplication in numbering, reads as follows:

The Legislature finds that:

- 1. Section 1021 of the National Defense Authorization Act of 2012 purports to assert the President's authority to not only arrest suspected terrorists, but also to determine whether or not a trial, including what type of trial, will be held for those arrested;
 - 2. Section 1022 of the National Defense Authorization Act of 2012 requires detention without trial by the military for a certain class of terrorist and authorizes but does not require the same for citizens of the United States;
 - 3. The exemption for citizens of the United States in Section 1022 of the National Defense Authorization Act of 2012 only exempts citizens from a requirement and reads as follows, "The requirement to detain a person in military custody under this section does not extend to citizens of the United States";
 - 4. The enactment into law by the United States Congress of Sections 1021 and 1022 of the National Defense Authorization Act of 2012, Public Law Number 112-81, is inimical to the liberty, security and well-being of the people of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and was adopted by the United States Congress in violation of the limits of federal power in United States Constitution, including but not limited to, those listed in Section 2 of this act.

 - 3. The indefinite detention, prosecution according to the law of war, and transfer to a foreign jurisdiction of persons as provided for by Sections 1021 and 1022 of the National Defense Authorization Act of 2012 are in direct contravention to the limits on federal power as specified in Section 2 of this act and are illegal within the boundaries of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts;
 - SECTION 5. NEW LAW A new section of law to be codified in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Statutes as Section (NUMBER) of Title (NUMBER), unless there is created a duplication in numbering, reads as follows:
