The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the Year Two Thousand Thirteen

An Act establishing age-appropriate accountability for children.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Section 72B of chapter 119 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010
2 Official Edition, is hereby amended by striking out paragraphs 1, 2, and 3, and inserting in place
3 thereof the following paragraphs:-

4 Notwithstanding the provisions of section 2 of chapter 265, if a person is found guilty of 5 murder in the first degree committed on or after his fourteenth birthday and before his eighteenth 6 birthday, the juvenile court department shall commit the person to imprisonment in the state
7 prison for not more than 20 years or for life. The court shall fix the minimum term for any person 8 committed to the state prison for life pursuant to this paragraph, which shall not be less than 10 9 years nor more than 20 years. Said person shall be eligible for parole under section one hundred 10 and thirty-three A of chapter one hundred and twenty-seven when such person has served the 11 minimum term as set by the court. Thereafter said person shall be subject to the provisions of law 12 governing the granting of parole permits by the parole board.

13 Notwithstanding the provisions of section 2 of chapter 265, if a person is found guilty of 14 murder in the second degree committed on or after his fourteenth birthday and before his 15 eighteenth birthday, the juvenile court department shall commit the person to imprisonment in 16 the state prison for not more than 15 years or for life. The court shall fix the minimum term for 17 any person committed to the state prison for life pursuant to this paragraph, which shall not be 18 less than 10 years nor more than 15 years. Said person shall be eligible for parole under section 19 one hundred and thirty-three A of chapter one hundred and twenty-seven when such person has 20 served the minimum term as set by the court. Thereafter said person shall be subject to the 21 provisions of law governing the granting of parole permits by the parole board.

22 In determining whether to commit said person to imprisonment for a term of years, 23 pursuant to this section, or life and the minimum term of incarceration for a life sentence, the 24 court shall consider and make findings on the record regarding age-related considerations 25 including: (1) the age at the time of the offense; (2) hallmark features of adolescence, including 26 immaturity, impetuosity, and the ability to appreciate risks and consequences; (3) family and 27 home environment prior to and at the time of the offense; (4) extent of said persons participation 28 in the offense; (5) the impact of familiar and peer pressures; (6) history of prior felony 29 convictions or adjudications; and (7) the potential for rehabilitation. A showing of age-related 30 diminished culpability or capacity for change shall foreclose the imposition of a life sentence.

31 If the court commits said person to the state prison for life, the court shall specify an 32 individualized program of rehabilitation, consistent with programming that the Department of 33 Correction provides, reasonably related to the offense and the defendant that, if complied with by 34 the defendant during the time period prescribed by the court, would indicate that release is not 35 incompatible with the welfare of society.

36 Any sentence imposed for offenses arising out of the same transaction and occurrence
37 shall run concurrent with the governing sentence.

38 SECTION 2. Paragraph 4 of said section 72B of said chapter 119, as so appearing, is 39 hereby amended by striking out the word, “seventeenth”, where it so appears in the first and 40 second instance, and inserting in place thereof the word:-

48 Section 72C. A person who is found guilty of murder in the first degree committed on or 49 after his fourteenth birthday and before his eighteenth birthday, and has been committed to 50 imprisonment in a state prison for life, may move for resentencing in the juvenile court
51 department after having served 10 years of the sentence and at least once in each ensuing 5 year
52 period for subsequent resentencing of a life sentence to a substitute sentence of not more than 20
53 years. Any sentence imposed for offenses arising out of the same transaction and occurrence
54 shall run concurrent with the governing sentence.

55 The defendant shall file the motion for resentencing with the juvenile court department
56 and serve a copy of the motion on the office of district attorney of the district where the offense

57 was originally prosecuted. The motion shall include the defendant's statement that the offense
58 occurred prior to the defendant's eighteenth birthday and that the defendant was committed to 59 imprisonment in a state prison for life.

60 Upon motion by the defendant, the juvenile court department shall hold a hearing to 61 consider whether to resentence the defendant to a substitute sentence of not more than 20 years.
62 The defendant shall have the right to be present at the hearing, he shall be afforded reasonable
63 opportunity to prepare and present evidence, and he shall have the right to call and examine 64 experts. In determining whether to resentence the defendant to a substitute sentence of not more
65 than 20 years, the court shall consider and make findings on the record regarding demonstrated 66 rehabilitation and age-related considerations including: (1) mitigating circumstances relevant to 67 the defendant at the time of the offense; (2) evidence of cognitive and emotional development
68 since the time of the offense; (3) the frequency, nature and regularity of the defendant's 69 disciplinary history while incarcerated; (4) history of the defendant's participation in 70 programming and activities, and access to said programming and activities, to further his 71 rehabilitation; and (5) other factors demonstrating rehabilitation.

72 The defendant shall have the right to have counsel appointed if deemed to be indigent as 73 determined by the standards under chapter 211D. The Department of Correction shall provide 74 notice of the right to counsel to the defendant and the Committee for Public Counsel Services no
75 less than 120 days prior to the defendant becoming eligible for resentencing.

76 If the defendant is resented to a substitute sentence of not more than 20 years, time
77 served on the original sentence shall be deemed to have been served on the substitute sentence.

78 Upon the denial of resentencing, the court shall specify an individualized program of 79 rehabilitation, consistent with programming that the Department of Correction provides,
80 reasonably related to the offense and the defendant that, if complied with by the defendant during 81 a time period prescribed by the court, would indicate that release is not incompatible with the 82 welfare of society.

83 SECTION 5. Said Chapter 119 of the General Laws, as so appearing, is hereby amended 84 by inserting after section 72B the following section:-

88 department after having served 10 years of the sentence and at least once in each ensuing 5 year
89 period for subsequent resentencing of a life sentence to a substitute sentence of not more than 15
90 years. Any sentence imposed for offenses arising out of the same transaction and occurrence
91 shall run concurrent with the governing sentence.

93 and serve a copy of the motion on the office of district attorney of the district where the offense
94 was originally prosecuted. The motion shall include the defendant's statement that the offense
96 imprisonment in a state prison for life.

97 Upon motion by the defendant, the juvenile court department shall hold a hearing to 98 consider whether to resentence the defendant to a substitute sentence of not more than 15 years.
99 The defendant shall have the right to be present at the hearing, he shall be afforded reasonable
100 opportunity to prepare and present evidence, and he shall have the right to call and examine
102 than 15 years, the court shall consider and make findings on the record regarding demonstrated 103 rehabilitation and age-related considerations including: (1) mitigating circumstances relevant to 104 the defendant at the time of the offense; (2) evidence of cognitive and emotional development
105 since the time of the offense; (3) the frequency, nature and regularity of the defendant's 106 disciplinary history while incarcerated; (4) history of the defendant participation in programming
107 and activities, and access to said programming and activities, to further his rehabilitation; and (5) 108 other factors demonstrating rehabilitation.

109 The defendant shall have the right to have counsel appointed if deemed to be indigent as

112 less than 120 days prior to the defendant becoming eligible for resentencing.

114 served on the original sentence shall be deemed to have been served on the substitute sentence.

115 Upon the denial of resentencing, the court shall specify an individualized program of 116 rehabilitation, consistent with programming that the Department of Correction provides,
117 reasonably related to the offense and the defendant that, if complied with by the defendant during 118 a time period prescribed by the court, would indicate that release is not incompatible with the 119 welfare of society.

120 SECTION 6. Section 74 of chapter 119, as so appearing, is hereby amended by striking 121 out paragraph 2.

122 SECTION 7. Said chapter 119, as so appearing, is hereby further amended by inserting 123 after section 85 the following section:-

124 Section 86. Notwithstanding any general or special law to the contrary, the provisions of 125 sections 52 through 85 shall apply to a person who is charged with murder occurring on or after 126 his fourteenth birthday and before his eighteenth birthday.

127 SECTION 8. Section 48 of chapter 127 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010
128 Official Edition, is hereby amended by inserting after the first paragraph the following 129 paragraph:-

130 The commissioner shall ensure that any person committed to the custody of the 131 department who has a court mandated individualized program of rehabilitation, pursuant to 134 health programming, and other appropriate programming as determined by the commissioner.

137 inserting in place thereof the following paragraph:-

139 a sentence for life in a correctional institution of the commonwealth, except prisoners confined to 140 the hospital at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution, Bridgewater, except prisoners serving 141 a life sentence for murder in the first degree who committed such offense on or after their 142 eighteenth birthday, and except prisoners serving more than one life sentence arising out of 143 separate and distinct incidents that occurred at different times, where the second offense occurred 144 subsequent to the first conviction, shall be eligible for parole at the expiration of the minimum 145 term fixed by the court under section 24 of chapter 279. The parole board shall, within 60 days 146 before the expiration of such minimum term, conduct a public hearing before the full 147 membership unless a member of the board is determined to be unavailable as provided in this 148 section. Notwithstanding the previous sentence, the board may postpone a hearing until 30 days 149 before the expiration of such minimum term, if the interests of justice so require and upon

155 chair. Board members shall appear unless said chair determines them to be unavailable. Under no 156 circumstances shall a parole hearing proceed pursuant to this section unless a majority of the 171 demonstrated rehabilitation and age-related considerations including: (1) evidence of cognitive 172 and emotional development since the time of the offense; (2) the frequency, nature and regularity 173 of the defendant's disciplinary history while incarcerated; (3) history of the defendants 174 participation in programming and activities, and access to said programming and activities, to 178 members, the parole board determines that he is likely to cause injury to persons. If such permit 179 is not granted, the parole board shall, at least once in each ensuing five year period thereafter, 180 consider carefully and thoroughly the merits of each such case on the question of releasing such
