(c) Information shared under this section may be verbal or written, provided, however, that for an inmate transferred between correctional facilities, or between a correctional facility and the department of mental health information, information as set forth below shall also be provided in writing. The commissioner shall specify a written form that the correctional facilities shall utilize for purposes of this section. The content of this written form shall be developed by the commissioner in consultation with the commissioner of mental health and shall include, but not be limited to: (i) mental health history relevant to recent treatment and information necessary for continuity of care, (ii) history of suicide attempts, (iii) acute medical concerns, (iv) names and dosages of current medications, (v) substance abuse history, and (vi) allergies and dietary restrictions.

The transferring facility shall provide such information at or before the time of the inmate's arrival at the receiving institution, but in any event, not more than 72 hours after the inmate's arrival at the receiving institution. In the event of an emergency, the transferring facility shall provide such information as soon as possible after the inmate's arrival, but in any event, not more than 24 hours thereafter.

- (d) Any privilege or confidentiality provision created by statute or common law relating to confidential communications or information or any statute otherwise prohibiting the disclosure of information shall not preclude the dissemination of information pursuant to this section; provided, however, that no such privilege or right of confidentiality shall be deemed waived in any proceeding by virtue of its having been disseminated pursuant to this section.
- (e) Any person who provides information to a correctional facility or to the department of mental health in accordance with this section shall not be liable in any civil or criminal action for providing such information.
- (f) Information shared pursuant to this section shall be considered health information and shall not be further disseminated except as provided by the regulations for release of health information of the respective departments.

SECTION 47. Section 136 of said chapter 127, as appearing in section 42 of chapter 192 of the acts of 2012, is hereby amended by inserting, after clause (c), the following sentence:- The parole board shall have the option to (1) grant parole, subject to the conditions or limitations as deemed appropriate, (2) deny parole, subject to reconsideration at a specified date with recommendations for interim program participation or treatment, or (3) deny parole.

SECTION 48. Section 3 of chapter 211E of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition, is hereby amended by inserting after subsection (k) the following subsection:-

(l) The commission shall provide an assessment of current mandatory minimum sentencing laws as part of an annual survey of sentencing practices and shall conduct as part of the assessment a racial impact assessment, which may include, but not be limited to, an assessment about offenders sentenced to mandatory and non-mandatory drug offenses, and information about length of sentences. The commission shall also provide a racial impact assessment on any sentencing proposal that is voted on by the general court. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the commission shall assure that the guidelines are neutral as to race, national origin, creed, religion and socio-economic status of offenders. The commission shall establish a protocol and practice for obtaining the information for the assessment.

SECTION 49. Section 13 of chapter 250 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition, is hereby amended by striking out in line 3 the word "seventeen" and inserting in place thereof the following word:- eighteen

SECTION 50. Section 10 of chapter 269 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition, is hereby amended by inserting at the end of subsection (d) the following:-

Whoever, after having been convicted in any court, of a crime punishable by imprisonment for a term of ten years or more, further commits an offense set forth in paragraph (a), (b) or (c), shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than five years. The sentence imposed on such person shall not be reduced, nor suspended, nor shall any person convicted under this subsection be eligible for probation, parole, work release, or furlough or receive any deduction from his sentence for good conduct until he shall have served such sentence; provided, however, that the commissioner of correction may on the recommendation of the warden, superintendent, or other person in charge of a correctional institution, grant to an offender committed under this subsection a temporary release in the custody of an officer of such institution for the following purposes only: to attend the funeral of a relative; to visit a critically ill relative; or to obtain emergency medical or psychiatric service unavailable at said institution. Prosecutions commenced under this subsection shall neither be continued without a finding nor placed on file.

SECTION 51. Section 89A of chapter 276 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition, is hereby amended by striking out in line 3 the word "seventeen" and inserting in place thereof the following word:- eighteen

SECTION 52. Section 2 of chapter 276A of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition, is hereby amended by striking out in lines 6 and 10 the word "seventeen" in and inserting in place thereof the following word:- eighteen

SECTION 53. Chapter 279 of the General Laws is hereby amended by inserting after section 27 the following section:-

Section 27A. Post-release supervision.

(a) All sentences of incarceration to a correctional facility shall include a period of mandatory post-release supervision and assistance, except where mandated by section 133A of chapter 127, where an individual has successfully completed a period of probation imposed by the court, or where an individual is sentenced to lifetime community parole pursuant to section 45 of chapter 265 and section 133D of chapter 127. For those not subject to parole or probation, the period of mandatory post-release supervision and assistance shall be 25 percent of the maximum term of incarceration imposed at sentencing, or nine months, whichever is greater. Where an individual is convicted of multiple offenses, the offense with the greatest term of incarceration shall be used to determine the length of the post-release supervision period. An individual subject to mandatory post-release supervision who has successfully completed 6 months of supervision shall be eligible for early termination of that supervision. Early termination shall only occur in accordance with procedures to be adopted in the regulations of the parole board. In proceedings for early termination of mandatory post-release supervision, the parole board's considerations shall include, but not be limited to, the amount of time the individual has successfully spent under post-release supervision, efforts and achievements in the areas of employment, housing, education, counseling, substance abuse treatment and required testing programs, and any other circumstances that are relevant to the individual case.

- (b) Upon release, an individual subject to post-release supervision and assistance shall be under the jurisdiction of and supervised by the parole board. The chairman of the parole board shall establish uniform regulations for mandatory post-release supervision consistent with the applicable provisions of chapter 127 and 276. All persons under such supervision shall be subject to the provisions of law, rules and regulations governing parole. The parole board will actively work with either the department of social services or the department of youth services, or both, where applicable, to provide assistance to the releasee in areas including, but not limited to, housing, education, employment training and employment opportunity. Nothing in this section shall limit the authority of the any court to impose conditions of probation supervision to protect the public or promote the rehabilitation of any person.
- (c) An individual who violates a condition of mandatory post-release supervision shall be subject to modification or revocation proceedings initiated by the parole board. In all proceedings under this section, upon a violation, the individual may be placed under increased supervision, subjected to other conditions, or incarcerated for not more than the maximum remaining unserved portion of their sentence. In the case of any violation for use of controlled substances or an offense for operating under the influence of drugs or alcohol, the period of mandatory post-release supervision shall be extended to accommodate an appropriate substance abuse program. For any violation of the conditions of mandatory post-release supervision, the period of supervision shall be stayed during a period of incarceration and it shall be resumed upon release. If such violation constitutes a criminal offense, said period of incarceration shall be served on and after any sentence received as a result of the new offense. Upon subsequent release, the greater of the maximum sentences of the original offense and subsequent offense shall be used to calculate the new mandatory post-release supervision period.

In establishing rules applicable to post-release supervision, the parole board, in conjunction with the Sentencing Commission, shall prepare and consider a racial and ethnic impact statement describing the effect of the rules on: (i) the racial and ethnic composition of persons on parole, probation or post-release supervision; and (ii) victims of crime who are members of racial and ethnic groups for which data are available.

SECTION 54. Section 6B of chapter 280 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition, is hereby amended by striking out in line 3 the word "seventeen" and inserting in place thereof the following word:- eighteen
