An Act to promote business continuity and recovery after a disaster.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1           SECTION 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of any other general or special law to the
2 contrary, for the purposes of the act, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

3           “Business Continuity Plan (BCP)”, a document containing the recovery timeline
4 methodology, test-validated documentation, procedures, and action instructions developed
5 specifically for use in restoring organization operations in the event of a declared disaster. To be
6 effective, most Business Continuity Plans also require testing, skilled personnel, access to vital
7 records, and alternate recovery resources including facilities.

8           “Disaster” or “emergency”, an occurrence such as a hurricane, tornado, flood,
9 earthquake, explosion, hazardous materials accident, war, transportation accident, act of 10 terrorism, mass shooting, fire, famine, or epidemic that causes human suffering or creates human 11 need that the victim cannot alleviate without assistance.

12           SECTION 2. Chapter 63 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition,
13 is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following new section:

14           Section 3SQ. (a) In determining the net income subject to tax under this chapter a
15 domestic or foreign business corporation, at its election, may deduct an amount equal to one half
16 of the expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the purchase of business continuity or business interruption insurance for business operations within the commonwealth, but in no case shall the deduction exceed the minimum corporate tax payment due.

Such deduction shall be allowed only if the insurance remained in full force and effect throughout the taxable year and the corporation maintained a current business continuity or interruption plan on file with the municipal government where the business is located. For purposes of this section, a business continuity or interruption plan is a practiced logistical plan for how an organization will recover and restore partially or completely interrupted critical functions within a specified time after a disaster or extended disruption.

SECTION 3. Chapter 43D of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official Edition, is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof, the following new section:

Section 17. Any municipality which accepts the provisions of this chapter may establish emergency permit granting procedures for the permanent or temporary relocation or rebuilding of property, including commercial entities, in any situation caused by unforeseen circumstances which render currently used real property unusable or unavailable for the purposes intended and which creates an immediate need for other real property to preserve the health or safety of persons or property.

SECTION 4. Notwithstanding any general or special law to the contrary, the Small Business Insurance Commission is established to examine the need for guidelines for small business insurance, including, but not limited to, a requirement that the insured have and maintain a continuity of business plan, and a requirement that the business be registered with the local emergency management office.

The commission shall consist of the following: The commissioner of insurance, two appointees of the senate president, 2 appointees of the speaker of the house, 1 appointee of the senate minority leader, 1 appointee of the house minority leader, 1 appointee of Associated Industries of Massachusetts, 1 appointee of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce, 1 appointee of the National Federation of Independent Business and 2 appointees of the governor, 1 of whom shall be from the insurance industry with expertise in small businesses. The commissioner of insurance shall be the chair of the commission but shall have no vote except in case of a tie.

The commission shall be responsible for studying the need for insurance guidelines for small business and issue a report of its findings no later than December 31, 2014.
