The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the Year Two Thousand Thirteen

An Act providing fair chances for employment.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Denial of employment opportunities to individuals because they are or 2 have been unemployed has the intent or necessary effect of burdening local economies and
3 commerce by reducing job opportunities and diminishing earnings and incomes, thereby:

4 Reducing personal consumption and undermining economic stability and growth;

5 Squandering human capital essential to the state's economic vibrancy and growth;

6 Increasing demands for state and federal unemployment insurance benefits, reducing trust
7 fund assets and leading to higher payroll taxes for employers, cuts in benefits for jobless
8 workers, or both;

9 Imposing additional burdens on publicly funded health and welfare programs; and

10 Depressing income, property and other tax revenues that states and localities rely on to 11 support operations and institutions essential to building and maintaining a robust economy.

12 The purpose of this legislation is to eliminate the burdens imposed on the state's 13 economy and on families and workers in the state when individuals are excluded from job
14 opportunities because of their current unemployment status, and to prohibit consideration of 15 current employment status in screening for or filling positions.
