Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Chapter 148 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2010 Official

For the purposes of this section, an existing building or structure shall not include those buildings or structures for which a certificate of occupancy has been issued within five years prior to the date of sale or transfer.

For purposes of this section, approved monitored battery power smoke detector, shall be a smoke detector which is activated, at a minimum, by an operable ten-year, sealed battery power source; provided that the battery is monitored to assure that the following conditions are met:

(ii) the unit is capable of producing an alarm signal for at least four continuous minutes at the battery voltage at which a trouble signal is normally obtained followed by seven days of trouble signal operation, and

(iii) the monitored batteries meeting these specifications are clearly identified on the unit.

(c) The head of the fire department shall enforce this section.

(d) Nothing in this section shall abrogate the authority of the state board of building regulations and standards to regulate smoke detector requirements for the construction of new buildings and for existing buildings undergoing repair, alteration, addition or change of use.
