The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the One Hundred and Eighty-Ninth General Court
(2015-2016)

An Act establishing the commission on extended producer responsibility.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Notwithstanding any general or special law to the contrary, there shall be a 2 special commission, referred to as the commission on extended producer responsibility, to study
3 and report on implementing extended producer responsibility laws in the commonwealth. The 4 commission shall consist of the secretary of energy and environmental affairs, or a designee; the 5 commissioner of environmental protection, or a designee; 1 member of the department of 6 business development; 3 members of the house of representatives, 2 of whom shall be appointed 7 by the speaker of the house, and 1 of whom shall be appointed by the minority leader of the 8 house; 3 members of the senate, 2 of whom shall be appointed by the senate president, and 1 of 9 whom shall be appointed by the senate minority leader; and 2 members who shall be appointed 10 by the governor.

The scope of the commission shall include, but not be limited to: researching, evaluating, and developing recommendations regarding the economic, environmental, and public health benefits and costs of extended producer responsibility laws related to the manufacture and post-consumer management of products including, but not limited to, the following: leftover paint, electronics, pesticides, household batteries, fluorescent lamps, phone books, carpet, medical sharps, consumer packaging and printed materials, pharmaceuticals, tires and mercury thermostats. The commission shall also research and make recommendations regarding the establishment of a comprehensive product stewardship approach, also known as a framework approach, to create an statewide policy structure for product stewardship that may be applied to an array of products. The commission shall consult with manufacturers, retailers, recyclers, environmental advocacy organizations, local units of government, and other interested parties, and shall provide at least one opportunity for public comment and the public review of the commission's draft report. The commission report shall include, but not be limited to, summaries of the following: (1) the existing infrastructure for managing post-consumer materials and the need for improvements to make this infrastructure convenient for the public; (2) the need for public education to reach target populations; (3) the need for incentives to change consumer behavior; (4) the current extended producer responsibility laws and pending extended producer responsibility legislation in other new england states and around the country; (5) the common elements of extended producer responsibility laws; (6) the opportunities to maximize the efficiency of extended producer responsibility programs by coordinating with other states in the region; and (7) the methods for evaluating the effectiveness of extended producer responsibility programs.

33 The commission shall submit its report of the findings and recommendations together 34 with recommendations for legislation to implement those recommendations by filing the same 35 with the executive office of energy and environmental affairs; the department of environmental 36 protection; the department of business development; the joint committee on environment, natural 37 resources and agriculture; and the clerks of the senate and the house no later than 1 year after the 38 passage of this bill.
