4 residential building modifications. For the purposes of this program, energy efficient items shall 5 include home insulation; new window installation; advanced programmable thermostats; micro-

7 efficient domestic hot water systems; materials for insulation or sealing of a duct, attic, 8 basement, rim joint or wall; pipe insulation for heating systems; or other items for use in a 9 residential dwelling that reduce energy consumption.

10 In establishing the program, the department shall develop a list of qualified state or
