The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the One Hundred and Eighty-Ninth General Court (2015-2016)

An Act providing for an investigation and study by a special interagency task force relative to gender-responsive programming for juvenile justice system-involved girls.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Chapter 6 of the General Laws is hereby amended by adding the following 2 section:-

3 Section 219. (a) There shall be a special interagency task force to investigate and study
4 methods of instituting gender-responsive programming for juvenile justice system-involved girls 5 and improve the effectiveness of services for juvenile justice system-involved girls.

6 (b) The task force shall consist of: 2 members of the senate, 1 of whom shall be appointed 7 by the minority leader; 2 members of the house of representatives, 1 of whom shall be appointed 8 by the minority leader; the secretary of health and human services or a designee; the 9 commissioner of elementary and secondary education or a designee; the commissioner of 10 probation or a designee; the commissioner of youth services or a designee; the commissioner of 11 children and families or a designee; the commissioner of mental health or a designee; the 12 commissioner of public health or a designee; the chief counsel for the committee for public 13 counsel services or a designee; the chief justice of the juvenile court department or a designee; 14 and 8 persons to be appointed by the governor who are current state vendors or representatives of 15 current state vendors that provide direct services to high-risk girls and who collectively serve or 16 reside in each major geographic area of the commonwealth. The governor shall designate a 17 chairperson or 2 co-chairpersons from the members of the task force.

18 (c) The task force shall: (i) conduct a review of gender-responsive programming 19 implementation successes and challenges in the commonwealth and in other states' juvenile 20 justice systems; (ii) conduct a review of the published reports, curricula and best practices for 21 gender-specific programming by government, foundations and non-profit organizations; (iii) 22 conduct a review of leading indicators that statistically result in girls becoming involved in 23 juvenile justice systems; (iv) review relevant state training curricula; (v) review relevant state 24 agencies' methods of data collection and aggregation by gender and race; (vi) analyze and 25 evaluate relevant state contracts with private or community-based vendors to determine whether 26 the vendors utilize a comprehensive approach when providing programming for girls involved in 27 juvenile justice systems; (vii) analyze and report the rates of recidivism amongst juvenile justice 28 system-involved girls; (viii) analyze and report the rates of non-juvenile justice system executive 29 agency service utilization by juvenile justice system-involved girls; (ix) track and analyze 30 educational attainment of juvenile justice system-involved girls; (x) hold at least 3 regional 31 meetings to solicit the input of community members and agencies serving high-risk girls; and

(xi) establish a mechanism for incorporating the opinions of juvenile justice system-involved girls into the findings of the task force.

(d) The task force shall meet at least 4 times per year at the call of the chair or chairpersons or at the call of a majority of the members of the task force. The task force may seek assistance from other organizations or individuals on a pro bono basis. The task force shall file biennial reports that shall include recommendations relative to community-based and state-wide gender-responsive programming for serving high-risk and juvenile justice system-involved girls with the clerks of the senate and the house of representatives who shall forward the same to the joint committee on children, families and persons with disabilities.

SECTION 2. The initial report of the special interagency task force shall be filed by January 31, 2016.
