408 result of an application for complaint brought under section 54.

409 (b) A child complained of as a delinquent child may, upon the request of the child, 410 undergo an assessment prior to arraignment to enable the judge to consider the suitability of the 411 child for diversion. If a child chooses to request a continuance for the purpose of such an 412 assessment, the child shall notify the judge prior to arraignment. Upon receipt of such 413 notification, the judge may grant a 14-day continuance. Said assessment may be conducted by 414 the personnel of a program. If a case is continued under this subsection, the child shall not be 415 arraigned and an entry shall not be made into the criminal offender record information system 416 until a judge issues an order to resume the ordinary processing of a delinquency proceeding.

417 (c)(1) After the completion of the assessment, the director of a program to which the 418 child has been referred shall submit to the court and to the counsel of the child a 419 recommendation as to whether the child would benefit from diversion to the program.

420 The judge, upon receipt of the recommendation, shall provide an opportunity for both the 421 prosecution and counsel for the child to be heard regarding the diversion of the child. The judge 422 shall then make a final determination as to the eligibility of the child for diversion. The 423 proceedings of a child who is found eligible for diversion under subsection (a) shall be stayed for 424 a period of 90 days, unless the judge determines that the interest of justice would best be served 425 by a lesser period of time or unless extended under subsection (f).

426 (2) A stay of proceedings shall not be granted under this section unless the child consents 427 in writing to the terms and conditions of the stay of proceedings and knowingly executes a 428 waiver of the child's right to a speedy trial on a form approved by the chief justice of the juvenile 429 court department. Consent shall be given only upon the advice of counsel.

436 proceedings be terminated and proceedings resumed on the original complaint. A statement or 437 other disclosure or records thereof made by a child during the course of assessment or during the 438 stay of proceedings shall not be disclosed at any time to a prosecutor or other law enforcement

446 (d) A district attorney may divert any child to a program, either before or after the 447 assessment procedure set forth in subsection (b), with or without the permission of the court and 449 to this subsection may request a report from a program regarding the child's status in and 450 completion of the program.

451 (e) If, during the stay of proceedings, the child is charged with a subsequent offense, a 452 judge in the court that entered the stay of proceedings may issue such process as is necessary to 453 bring the child before the court. When the child is brought before the court, the judge shall afford 454 the child an opportunity to be heard. If the judge finds probable cause to believe that the child 455 has committed a subsequent offense, the judge may order, when appropriate, that the stay of 456 proceedings be terminated and that the commonwealth be permitted to proceed on the original 457 complaint as provided by law.

458 (f)(1) Upon the expiration of the initial 90-day stay of proceedings, the program director 459 shall submit to the court a report indicating the successful completion of the program by the child 460 or recommending an extension of the stay of proceedings for not more than an additional 90 days 461 so that the child may complete the diversion program successfully.

462 (2) If the program director indicates the successful completion of diversion by a child, the 463 judge may dismiss the original complaint pending against the child. If the report recommends an 464 extension of the stay of proceedings, the judge may, on the basis of the report and any other 465 relevant evidence, take such action as the judge deems appropriate, including the dismissal of the 466 complaint, the granting of an extension of the stay of proceedings or the resumption of 467 proceedings.

468 (3) If the conditions of diversion have not been met, the child's attorney shall be notified 469 prior to the termination of the child from diversion and the judge may grant an extension to the 470 stay of proceedings if the child provides good cause for failing to comply with the conditions of 471 diversion.

472 (4) If the judge dismisses a complaint under this subsection, the court shall, unless the 473 child objects, enter an order directing expungement of any records of the complaint and related 474 proceedings maintained by the clerk, the court, the department of criminal justice information 475 services and the court activity record index.

870 parole made under this section may petition for relief pursuant to section 4 of chapter 249. A

1401 (b) Upon the appearance before a judicial officer of a defendant charged with an offense, 1402 the judicial officer shall hold a hearing, at which the defendant and defendant’s counsel, if any,

1428 business days and a continuance on motion of the commonwealth shall not exceed 3 business 1429 days. During a continuance, the individual shall be detained upon a showing that there existed 1430 probable cause to arrest the defendant. The commonwealth may move for a hearing under said 1431 section 58A at any time before disposition of the case. Once a hearing under said section 58A 1432 has been commenced, the defendant shall be detained pending completion of the hearing.

1433 (3) In any pending case where the defendant has been initially arraigned in the district, 1434 Boston municipal or juvenile court and is being subsequently arraigned in superior court for the 1437 however, that any order of the district, Boston municipal or juvenile court concerning the 1438 defendant issued under said section 58 or 58A shall remain in effect until the superior court 1439 issues a new order under said section 58 or 58A. In any new hearing in the superior court, the 1440 judicial officer shall consider the defendant's compliance with any previously-ordered conditions 1441 of release or probation.

1442 If a defendant has posted bail in the district court and has subsequently been arraigned in 1443 the superior court for the same offense, the superior court clerk shall notify the district court 1444 clerk holding the defendant's bail of such arraignment. Upon such notification, the amount of 1445 any bail bond posted by a defendant in the district court shall be carried over to a bail bond 1446 required by the superior court. The superior court justices' discretion in setting the amount of 1447 bail shall not be affected by this paragraph.

1448 (4) Any hearing under section 58 may be reopened by the judicial officer, any hearing 1449 under section 58A or 58B may be reopened by the judge and any hearing under either said

1450 section 58, 58A or 58B may be reopened upon motion of the commonwealth or the defendant if 1451 the judicial officer or judge determines by a preponderance of the evidence that: (i) information 1452 exists that was not known to the moving party at the time of the hearing or there has been a 1453 material change in circumstances; and (ii) such information or change in circumstances has a 1454 material bearing on the issue of whether the defendant's detention or the defendant's release on 1455 conditions or the conditions imposed on the defendant are necessary and sufficient to reasonably 1456 assure the appearance of the defendant as required and the safety of any other person and the 1457 community. In any such reopened hearing, the judicial officer shall consider the defendant's 1458 compliance with any previously-ordered conditions of release.

1459 Section 58. (a) The judicial officer shall order the pretrial release of the defendant on 1460 personal recognizance, subject to the condition that the defendant not commit a new offense 1461 during the period of release, unless the judicial officer determines, in its discretion, that the 1462 release will not reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as required or will endanger 1463 the safety of any other person or the community. Upon adoption of a risk assessment tool by the 1464 Massachusetts probation service as set forth in section 58E, the judicial officer shall consult the 1465 risk assessment tool before making a determination pursuant to this section.

1466 (b) If the judicial officer determines that the release described in subsection (a) will not 1467 reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as required or will endanger the safety of any 1468 other person or the community, the judicial officer shall order the pretrial release of the 1469 defendant subject to the condition that the defendant not commit a new offense during the period 1470 of release and shall:

1471 (i) in order to assure the defendant's appearance, impose the least restrictive further 1472 condition or combination of conditions, in writing or orally on the record, which may include 1473 that the defendant, during the period of release, shall:

1474 (1) abide by specified restrictions on personal associations, place of abode and travel;

1476 office of community corrections;

1477 (3) refrain using alcohol and marijuana and any controlled substance without a 1478 prescription or certification by a licensed medical practitioner;

1479 (4) submit to random testing to monitor compliance with any conditions ordered pursuant 1480 to subclause (3); provided, however, that a positive test for use of marijuana shall not be 1481 considered a violation of the conditions of pretrial release unless the judicial officer expressly 1482 prohibits the use or possession of marijuana as a condition of pretrial release;

1483 (5) comply with a specified curfew or home confinement;

1484 (6) undergo medical, psychological or psychiatric treatment, including treatment for 1485 substance or alcohol use disorder, if available, and remain in a specified institution if required for 1486 that purpose;

1487 (7) submit to electronic monitoring; provided, however, that any condition of electronic 1488 monitoring shall include either specified inclusion or exclusion zones or a curfew or a 1489 combination thereof;

1490 (8) participate in pretrial programming at a community corrections center pursuant to 1491 chapter 211F; provided, however, that the defendant shall consent to such participation;

1492 (9) provide an unsecured or secured bond to satisfy a financial condition that the judicial 1493 officer may specify; provided, however, that for offenses that do not carry a penalty of 1494 incarceration, no secured bond shall be ordered unless the defendant has previously failed to 1495 appear; provided further, that no financial condition shall be imposed on a defendant under the 1496 age of criminal majority;

1497 (10) for a juvenile defendant, release to a personal surety;

1498 (11) participate in a diversion program under chapter 276A, an alternative adjudication

1500 defendant shall consent to such alternative adjudication program or a drug, mental health, 1501 veteran or other treatment court; and 1502 (12) satisfy any other condition that is reasonably necessary to assure the appearance of 1503 the defendant as required; provided, however, that no condition or combination of conditions 1504 shall be imposed pursuant to clause (i) of subsection (b) that is not reasonably necessary to 1505 assure the appearance of the defendant as required; or

1506 (ii) in order to assure the safety of any other person and the community, impose the least 1507 restrictive further condition or combination of conditions, in writing or orally on the record, 1508 which may include that the defendant, during the period of release, shall:

1509 (1) refrain from abusing and harassing any alleged victims of the offense and any 1510 potential witnesses who may testify concerning the offense;

1511 (2) stay away from and have no contact with any alleged victims of the offense and 1512 potential witnesses who may testify concerning the offense;

1516 (5) refrain using alcohol and marijuana and any controlled substance without a 1517 prescription or certification by a licensed medical practitioner;

1518 (6) submit to random testing to monitor compliance with subclause (5); provided, 1519 however, that a positive test for use of marijuana shall not be considered a violation of the 1520 conditions of pretrial release unless the judicial officer expressly prohibits the use of marijuana 1521 as a condition of pretrial release;

1522 (7) undergo medical, psychological or psychiatric treatment, including treatment for 1523 substance or alcohol use disorder, if available, and remain in a specified institution if required for 1524 that purpose;

1525 (8) submit to electronic monitoring; provided, however, that any condition of electronic 1526 monitoring shall include either specified inclusion or exclusion zones or a curfew or a 1527 combination thereof; and

1528 (9) satisfy any other condition that is reasonably necessary to assure the safety of any 1529 other person and the community; provided, however, that no condition or combination of 1530 conditions shall be imposed clause (ii) of subsection (b) that is not reasonably necessary to 1531 assure the safety of any other person and the community.

1532 (c) When setting any conditions to reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as 1533 required under clause (i) of subsection (b), the judicial officer shall consider, when relevant, the 1534 following factors concerning the defendant:

1535 (i) financial resources

1536 (ii) any results of a risk assessment tool if such tool is available as set forth in section 58E 1537 of this chapter;

1538 (iii) family ties;

1539 (iv) any record of convictions;

1540 (v) any potential penalty the defendant is facing;

1541 (vi) any illegal drug distribution charges or present drug dependence;

1542 (vii) employment records;

1543 (viii) history of mental illness;

1544 (ix) any prior flight to avoid prosecution or fraudulent use of an alias or false

1545 identification;

1546 (x) any prior failure to appear at any court proceeding to answer to an offense; and 1547 (xi) any prior violation of conditions of release or probation.

1548 (d) When setting any conditions to reasonably assure the safety of any other person and

1549 the community under clause (ii) of subsection (b), the judicial officer shall consider, when 1550 relevant, the following factors concerning the defendant:

1551 (i) any factors listed in (c)(ii)-(xi);

1552 (ii) the nature and circumstances of the offense charged;

1553 (iii) whether the defendant is on release pending adjudication of a prior charge;

1554 (iv) whether the acts alleged involve a crime of abuse as defined in section 57;

1555 (v) any history of orders issued against the defendant pursuant to section 18 or 34B of

1556 chapter 208, section 32 of chapter 209, section 3, 4 or 5 of chapter 209A or section 15 or 20 of

1557 chapter 209C;

1558 (vi) any specific, articulable risk that the defendant might obstruct or attempt to obstruct

1559 justice or threaten, injure or intimidate or attempt to threaten, injure or intimidate a prospective

1560 witness or juror;

1561 (vii) whether the defendant is on probation, parole or other release pending completion of 1562 a sentence for another conviction; and

1563 (viii) whether the defendant is on release pending sentence or appeal for any conviction.

1564 (e)(1) A judicial officer shall not consider financial resources when setting any conditions 1565 to assure the safety of any other person or the community under clause (ii) of subsection (b), but 1566 may impose a financial condition on a defendant who is older than the age of criminal majority 1567 when necessary to reasonably assure the defendant's appearance as required.

1568 (2) A judicial officer shall not set bail at an amount that the defendant represent, in good 1569 faith, that he or she cannot afford unless the judicial officer finds that the defendant's risk of non-1570 appearance is so great that no alternative, less restrictive financial or nonfinancial conditions will 1571 suffice to assure the defendant's presence at future court proceedings, and the defendant is likely 1572 to be incarcerated if convicted on the charged offense. If the judicial officer so finds, the judicial 1573 officer shall provide findings of fact and a statement of reasons for the bail decision, either in 1574 writing or orally on the record, stating: (i) that the defendant's risk of non-appearance is so great 1575 that no alternative, less restrictive financial or nonfinancial conditions will suffice to assure the 1576 defendant's presence at future court proceedings; (ii) that it is likely that the defendant will be 1577 incarcerated if convicted on the charged offense; (iii) that the judicial officer considered the 1578 defendant's financial resources and personal circumstances; and (iv) why the commonwealth's 1579 interest in the secured bond amount outweighs any likely adverse impact on the defendant's 1580 employment, education, mental health treatment, substance or alcohol use treatment and primary 1581 caretaker responsibilities.

1582 (3) A judicial officer shall not order that a defendant who is younger than the age of 1583 criminal majority be detained pretrial under this section unless the judicial officer finds that the 1584 defendant's risk of non-appearance is so great that no alternative, less restrictive condition or 1585 combination of conditions will suffice to assure the defendant's presence at future court 1586 proceedings, and the defendant is likely to be incarcerated if convicted on the charged offense. If 1587 the judicial officer so finds, the judicial officer shall provide findings of fact and a statement of 1588 reasons for the decision, either in writing or orally on the record, stating: (i) that the defendant's 1589 risk of non-appearance is so great that no alternative, less restrictive nonfinancial conditions will 1590 suffice to assure the defendant's presence at future court proceedings; (ii) that it is likely that the 1591 defendant will be incarcerated if convicted on the charged offense; (iii) that the judicial officer 1592 considered the defendant's personal circumstances, including any likely adverse impact on the 1593 defendant's employment, education, mental health treatment, substance or alcohol use treatment 1594 and primary caretaker responsibilities.

1595 (4) If after 7 calendar days from the date of an order issued under this section a 1596 defendant, other than a defendant for whom the judicial officer made findings as set forth in 1597 paragraph (2) remains detained because of an inability to satisfy a financial condition, the 1598 defendant shall, upon application, be entitled to reconsideration of the financial condition by the 1599 judicial officer of the court who initially set the financial condition, if available, or otherwise by 1600 a judicial officer of a court with jurisdiction over the offense; provided, however, that a financial 1601 condition set by a judge shall only be reconsidered by a judge. If after that review the defendant 1602 remains detained because of an inability to satisfy a financial condition, the defendant shall, upon 1603 application, be entitled to review at 30-day intervals.

1604 (5) If after 60 calendar days a defendant against whom a judicial officer made findings 1605 pursuant to paragraph (2) remains detained because of an inability to satisfy a financial 1606 condition, the defendant shall, upon application, be entitled to reconsideration of the financial 1607 condition by the judicial officer who initially set the financial condition, if available, or if 1608 unavailable, by a judicial officer of a court with jurisdiction over the offense; provided, however, 1609 that a financial condition set by a judge shall only be reconsidered by a judge. If, after such 1610 review, the defendant remains detained because of an inability to satisfy a financial condition, 1611 the defendant shall, upon application, be entitled to review at 90-day intervals.

1612 (6) If after 15 days a defendant who is younger than the age of criminal majority for 1613 whom the judicial officer made findings pursuant to paragraph (3) remains detained, the 1614 defendant shall, upon application, be entitled to reconsideration of the detention by the judicial 1615 officer who initially made the findings, if available, or if unavailable, by a judicial officer of a 1616 court with jurisdiction over the offense; provided, however, that such a finding made by a judge 1617 may only be reconsidered by a judge. If, after such review, the defendant remains detained, the 1618 defendant shall, upon application, be entitled to review at 15-day intervals.

1619 (7) If a judicial officer imposes a financial condition, the clerk of the court shall accept 1620 any money tendered in satisfaction of such financial condition during the regular business hours 1621 of that court.

1622 (f) Before ordering the release of a defendant charged with a crime against the person or 1623 property of another, the judicial officer shall comply with the domestic abuse inquiry 1624 requirements of section 56A.

1625 (g) In a release order issued under this section, the judicial officer shall:

1626 (i) include a written statement that sets forth all of the conditions to which the release 1627 shall be subject and shall be set forth in a manner sufficiently clear and specific to serve as a 1628 guide for the defendant's conduct; and

1629 (ii) if a defendant is not released on personal recognizance or unsecured bond, it shall 1630 include a written summary of the reasons for denying release on personal recognizance and 1631 unsecured bond and detailed reasons for imposing any financial condition; and 1632 (iii) advise the defendant of:

1633 (1) the consequences of violating a condition of release, including immediate arrest or the 1634 issuance of a warrant therefor, revocation of release and any potential criminal penalties the 1635 defendant may face, including penalties for intimidation of a witness under section 13B of 1636 chapter 268; and

1637 (2) if the defendant is charged with a crime of abuse, informational resources related to 1638 domestic violence which shall include, but not be limited to, a list of certified intimate partner 1639 abuse education programs located within or near the court's jurisdiction.

1640 (h) Whenever a judicial officer releases a defendant under this section, the court shall 1641 enter in writing on the court docket that the defendant was advised as required in clause (iii) of 1642 subsection (g) and that docket entry shall constitute prima facie evidence that the defendant was 1643 so informed.

1644 (i) If a defendant in a case involving a crime of abuse is released from a place of 1645 detention, the arresting police department shall make a reasonable attempt to notify the victim of 1646 the defendant's release or, if the defendant is released by order of a court, the district attorney 1647 shall make a reasonable attempt to notify the victim of the defendant's release.

1648 Section 58A. (a)(1) Upon motion of the commonwealth, a judge shall hold a hearing to 1649 determine whether any condition or combination of conditions in section 58 will reasonably 1650 assure the safety of any other person and the community in a case:

1651 (i) that involves a dangerous crime as defined in section 57 or an offense under clause (1)
1652 or (2) of subsection (b) of section 32E of chapter 94C, clause (3) or (4) of subsection (c) of said 1653 section 32E of said chapter 94C or section 32F of said chapter 94C;

1654 (ii) where the defendant has an open charge for any crime or offense listed in clause (i);

1655 (iii) where the defendant has a conviction for any crime or offense listed in clause (i), 1656 unless the defendant has not been incarcerated for a crime or offense listed in said clause (i) 1657 within the previous 10 years; or

1658 (iv) where there is a serious risk that the defendant will obstruct or attempt to obstruct 1659 justice or threaten, injure or intimidate or attempt to threaten, injure or intimidate a law 1660 enforcement officer, an officer of the court or a prospective witness or juror in a criminal 1661 investigation or judicial proceeding.

1662 (2) If after a hearing pursuant to this section the judge finds by clear and convincing 1663 evidence that no condition or combination of conditions will reasonably assure the safety of any 1664 other person and the community, the judge shall order that the defendant be detained pending 1665 trial. If the judge does not so find, the defendant shall be released pursuant to section 58 on 1666 personal recognizance or unsecured bond or on such condition or combination of conditions as 1667 the judge determines to be necessary to reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant, as 1668 required, and the safety of any other person and the community.

1669 (b)(1) At a hearing under paragraph (1) of subsection (a), the defendant shall:

1670 (i) have the right to be represented by counsel and, if financially unable to obtain such 1671 counsel, the defendant shall have counsel appointed;

1672 (ii) be afforded an opportunity to testify;

1673 (iii) be afforded an opportunity to present witnesses, to cross examine witnesses who 1674 appear at the hearing and to present information by proffer or otherwise; provided, however, that 1675 before issuing a summons to an alleged victim or a member of the alleged victim's family to 1676 appear as a witness at the hearing, the defendant shall demonstrate to the court a good faith and 1677 reasonable basis for believing that the testimony from that witness will be material and relevant 1678 to support a conclusion that there are conditions of release that will reasonably assure the safety 1679 of any other person and the community.

1680 (2) The law concerning admissibility of evidence in criminal trials shall not apply to the 1681 presentation and consideration of information at the hearing.

1682 (3) If a defendant has been released pursuant to section 58 and it subsequently appears 1683 that there are grounds for the defendant's pretrial detention under paragraph (1) of subsection (a), 1684 the commonwealth may request a pretrial detention hearing by ex parte written motion. If the 1685 court grants the commonwealth's motion, notice shall be given to the defendant and a hearing 1686 shall occur as set forth in this section.

1687 (c) In determining whether there are conditions of release that will reasonably assure the 1688 safety of any other person and the community, a judge shall take into account information 1689 available concerning:

1690 (i) the factors listed in subsection (d) of section 58;

1691 (ii) the weight of the evidence against the defendant; and

1692 (iii) the nature and seriousness of the danger to any other person and the community that 1693 would be posed by the defendant's release.

1694 Upon adoption of a risk assessment tool by the office of probation under section 58E, the 1695 judge shall consult the risk assessment tool before making a determination pursuant to this 1696 section.

1697 (d) If, after the hearing under this section, the judge determines that detention of the 1698 defendant is necessary under paragraph (2) of subsection (a), the judge shall issue an order that:
1699 (i) includes written findings of fact and a written statement of the reasons for the detention; (ii) 1700 directs that the defendant be committed to a correction facility separate, to the extent practicable, 1701 from persons serving sentences; and (iii) directs that the defendant be afforded reasonable 1702 opportunity for private consultation with counsel.

1703 If the judge releases the defendant, the order for release shall comply with section 58.

1704 (e) A defendant detained under this section shall be brought to trial as soon as reasonably 1705 possible but, in the absence of good cause, the defendant shall not be detained for more than 120 1706 days, if older than the age of criminal majority, and for a period of not more than 60 days for a 1707 defendant who is younger than the age of criminal majority, excluding any period of delay as 1708 defined in Rule 36(b)(2) of the Massachusetts Rules of Criminal Procedure. If the defendant's 1709 case has not been brought to trial or otherwise resolved by the end of that period, excluding any 1710 period of delay as defined above, the defendant shall be entitled to a de novo reconsideration of 1711 the detention order by the court that originally issued the order.

1712 (f) Nothing in this section shall be construed to modify or limit the presumption of 1713 innocence.

1714 Section 58B. (a) A defendant who has been released after a hearing pursuant to section 1715 58, 58A, 59 or 87 and who has violated a condition of release shall be subject to a revocation of 1716 release and an order of detention.

1717 (b) The judge shall enter an order of revocation and detention if, after a hearing, the judge 1718 finds that: (i) there is probable cause to believe that the defendant has committed a crime while 1719 on release or there is clear and convincing evidence that the defendant has violated any other 1720 condition of release; and (ii) there are no conditions of release that will reasonably assure the 1721 defendant will not pose a danger to the safety of any other person or the community. The judge 1722 may, in the judge's discretion, enter an order of revocation and detention if, after a hearing, the 1723 judge finds that: (i) there is probable cause to believe that the defendant has committed a crime 1724 while on release or there is clear and convincing evidence that the defendant has violated any 1725 condition of release other than committing a crime; and (ii) the defendant is unlikely to abide by 1726 any condition or combination of conditions of release.

1727 (c) If the judge issues a release order under this section, the judge may order any 1728 condition or combination of conditions of release under clause (i) and (ii) of subsection (b) of 1729 section 58.

1730 (d) Upon the defendant's first appearance before the judge that will conduct proceedings 1731 for revocation of an order of release under this section, the hearing concerning revocation shall 1732 be held immediately unless the defendant or the commonwealth seeks a continuance. During a 1733 continuance, the defendant shall be detained without bail unless the judge finds that there are 1734 conditions of release that will reasonably assure that the defendant will not pose a danger to the 1735 safety of any other person or the community and that the defendant will abide by conditions of 1736 release. If the defendant is detained without bail, a continuance on a motion of the defendant 1737 shall not exceed 5 business days, except for good cause, and a continuance on motion of the 1738 commonwealth or probation shall not exceed 3 business days, except for good cause. A 1739 defendant detained under an order of revocation and detention shall be brought to trial as soon as 1740 reasonably possible but, in the absence of good cause, a defendant shall not be detained for more 1741 than 90 days, if older than the age of criminal majority, and for a period of not more than 60 days 1742 for a defendant who is younger than the age of criminal majority, excluding any period of delay

1743 as defined in Rule 36(b)(2) of the Massachusetts Rules of Criminal Procedure. If the defendant's 1744 case has not been brought to trial or otherwise resolved by the end of the period prescribed by 1745 this section, excluding any period of delay as defined above, the defendant shall be entitled to a 1746 de novo reconsideration of the detention order by the court that originally issued the order.

1747 Section 58C. (a) A defendant who is released on conditions or detained under section 58
1748 or section 58A pursuant to an order of the district court department, the Boston municipal court 1749 department or the juvenile court department shall, upon application, be entitled to have the 1750 conditions or order of detention reviewed de novo by the superior court department on the next 1751 day that court is in session.

1752 (b) A defendant who is released on conditions or detained under section 58 or 58A or 1753 who is the subject of an order under subsection (a) pursuant to an order of the superior court 1754 department may seek relief from a single justice of the appeals court in extraordinary cases 1755 involving a clear and substantial abuse of discretion or a clear and substantial error of law.

1756 (c) A judge hearing a review pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) may consider the record 1757 below which the commonwealth and the defendant may supplement. The reviewing judge may, 1758 after a hearing on the petition for review, order that the petitioner be released on personal 1759 recognizance or on any of the conditions set forth in clause (i) and (ii) of subsection (b) of 1760 section 58 or, in the judge's discretion to reasonably assure the effective administration of 1761 justice, make any other order of recognizance or conditions, or the judge may remand the 1762 petitioner in accordance with the terms of the process by which the petitioner was ordered 1763 committed.

1764 Section 58D. (a) There shall be in the office of probation a pretrial services initiative, 1765 hereinafter referred to as pretrial services. Pretrial services shall be led by a supervisor of pretrial 1766 services. The supervisor shall be a person of ability and experience in the pretrial process who 1767 shall be chosen and appointed by the commissioner of probation.

1768 (b) Pretrial services shall perform the following duties for the departments of the trial 1769 court of the commonwealth:

1770 (i) develop, in coordination with the court and other criminal justice agencies, programs 1771 to minimize unnecessary pretrial detention and violations of conditions of release set forth in 1772 section 58;

1773 (ii) monitor the local implementation of pretrial services as provided in this section and 1774 maintain accurate and comprehensive records of pretrial services' activities;

1775 (iii) provide notification to supervised defendants of court appearance obligations and, as 1776 needed, require periodic reporting by letter, telephone, electronic communication, personal 1777 appearance or by other means designated by pretrial services to verify compliance with 1778 conditions of release;

1779 (iv) assist defendants who are released prior to trial in securing appropriate employment, 1780 medical, drug, mental or other health treatment or other needed social services that may increase 1781 the defendant's chances of successful compliance with the conditions of release;

1782 (v) prepare a formal report of new charges against defendants released on conditions and 1783 present the same to the court and to the prosecuting officer who shall aid pretrial services in 1784 presenting such violations; and

1785 (vi) perform any other duties that the commissioner of probation deems necessary to 1786 support the operation of pretrial services.

1787 (c) Pretrial services may be provided with probation staff, including community 1788 correction staff, as determined by the commissioner of probation.

1789 (d) A defendant shall not be interviewed by pretrial services unless the defendant has 1790 been apprised of the identity and purpose of the interview, the scope of the interview, the right to 1791 counsel and the right to refuse cooperation. Inquiry of the defendant shall carefully exclude 1792 questions concerning the details of the current charge. Statements made by the defendant during 1793 the interview or evidence derived therefrom shall not be admissible against the defendant in any 1794 pending criminal prosecution, including in determining the defendant's guilt or the appropriate 1795 disposition or if the defendant has violated a condition of probation or pretrial release or a 1796 condition of parole, except that such statements and evidence may be used in determining 1797 appropriate conditions of release and conditions of probation.

1798 (e) The supervisor of pretrial services shall submit annual reports to the commissioner of 1799 probation, the chief justice of the trial court, the court administrator, the chief justice of the 1800 supreme judicial court and the clerks of the senate and the house of representatives who shall 1801 forward the report to the senate and house chairs of the joint committee on the judiciary. The 1802 report shall include, but not be limited to, if available: (i) analysis on demographics of the 1803 pretrial population, including age, race and gender; (ii) appearance and default rates; (iii) 1804 conditions imposed upon release; (iv) caseload of the pretrial services initiative; (v) length of 1805 supervision; and (vi) any other analytical data deemed appropriate; provided, however, that any 1806 data included in the report shall be presented only in aggregated form so that no individual can 1807 be identified.

1808 Section 58E. (a) Subject to appropriation, pretrial services shall create or choose a risk 1809 assessment tool that analyzes risk factors to produce a risk assessment classification for a 1810 defendant that will aid the judicial officer in determining pretrial release or detention under 1811 sections 58 to 58C, inclusive. Any such tool shall be tested and validated in the commonwealth 1812 to identify and eliminate unintended economic, race, gender or other bias.

1813 The pretrial services initiative shall: (i) establish procedures for screening defendants 1814 who are presented in court for a first appearance to assist the trial court in determining any 1815 appropriate conditions of release or detention under sections 58 to 58C, inclusive; (ii) record and, 1816 to the extent possible, verify information required by the risk assessment tool; and (iii) submit a 1817 written report to the judicial officer and to all parties and counsel of record which shall include 1818 the results of the risk assessment tool, the defendant's eligibility for diversion, treatment or other 1819 alternative adjudication programs and any recommendations concerning any appropriate 1820 conditions of release or detention under said section 58 and section 58A.

1821 (b) A representative of pretrial services shall, when feasible, be available at any hearing 1822 wherein the judicial officer will be considering the pretrial services written report.

1823 (c) When ordered by the judicial officer, pretrial services shall monitor and supervise 1824 compliance with the conditions of release ordered under section 58 and, when appropriate, shall 1825 proceed under section 58B.

1826 (d) Records created concerning pretrial services, including aggregate data, shall not be 1827 considered criminal offender record information and shall be subject to the same limitations on 1828 disclosure as other records kept by the office of probation. Subject to redaction for safety and 1829 third-party considerations, an individual shall have access to their own records and information 1830 collected or created by pretrial services.

1831 (e) The trial court of the commonwealth, in coordination with pretrial services, shall 1832 develop curricula and make training opportunities available on a rolling basis to all judicial 1833 officers eligible to make decisions under sections 58, 58A, 58B and 59. The training shall 1834 include information on the risk assessment tools, risk assessment scoring and recommended 1835 supervision levels, conditions of release and any other information that the trial court or the 1836 commissioner of probation deem appropriate.

1837 Section 59. (a) If a defendant is arrested and charged with an offense, other than murder 1838 in the first or second degree or a crime of abuse or treason when the courts having jurisdiction 1839 over the offense are not in session, a bail commissioner or bail magistrate shall appear as soon as 1840 possible but not more than 6 hours after the defendant's arrest unless the defendant lacks the 1841 capacity to understand and participate in the bail proceedings; provided, however, that failure of 1842 a bail commissioner or bail magistrate to appear within the prescribed time shall not constitute 1843 grounds for dismissal of the charges against a defendant. If a defendant is charged with a crime 1844 of abuse, the bail commissioner or bail magistrate shall not appear earlier than 6 hours after the 1845 defendant's arrest but shall appear as soon as possible thereafter.

1846 (b) The bail commissioner or bail magistrate shall order the pretrial release of a defendant 1847 on personal recognizance, subject to the condition that the defendant not commit a new offense 1848 during the period of release, unless the bail commissioner or bail magistrate determines that 1849 release on personal recognizance will not reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as 1850 required or will endanger the safety of any other person or the community.

1851 (c)(1) If the bail commissioner or bail magistrate determines that the release described in 1852 subsection (b) will not reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as required or will 1853 endanger the safety of any other person or the community, the bail commissioner or bail

1854 magistrate may order the pretrial release of the defendant subject to the following conditions: (i) 1855 the defendant shall not commit a new offense during the period of release; and (ii) the bail 1856 commissioner or bail magistrate shall impose the least restrictive further condition or 1857 combination of conditions that the bail commissioner or bail magistrate determines will 1858 reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as required and the safety of any other person 1859 and the community; provided, however, that such conditions may include, but shall not be 1860 limited to, orders that the defendant shall:

1861 (A) abide by specified restrictions on personal associations, places of abode or travel;

1862 (B) refrain from the use of alcohol or marijuana or any controlled substance without a 1863 prescription or certification by a licensed medical practitioner;

1864 (C) comply with a specified curfew or home confinement;

1865 (D) refrain from abusing and harassing any alleged victim of the offense and any 1866 potential witnesses who may testify concerning the offense;

1867 (E) stay away from and have no contact with an alleged victim of the offense or with 1868 potential witnesses who may testify concerning the offense;

1869 (F) refrain from possessing a firearm, rifle, shotgun, destructive device or other 1870 dangerous weapon;

1871 (G) provide unsecured or secured bond to satisfy a financial condition that the bail 1872 commissioner or bail magistrate may specify; provided, that no financial condition shall be 1873 imposed on a defendant who is younger than the age of criminal majority; or 1874 (H) satisfy any other condition that is reasonably necessary to assure the appearance of 1875 the defendant as required or the safety of any other person and the community.

1876 (2) When setting conditions under this subsection, the bail commissioner or bail 1877 magistrate shall consider, when relevant, the following factors concerning the defendant:

- 1878 (i) financial resources;
- 1879 (ii) family ties;
- 1880 (iii) any record of convictions;
- 1881 (iv) any potential penalty the defendant is facing;
- 1882 (v) any illegal drug distribution charges or present drug dependence;
- 1883 (vi) employment records;
- 1884 (vii) history of mental illness;
- 1885 (viii) any prior flight to avoid prosecution or fraudulent use of an alias or false 1886 identification;
- 1887 (ix) any prior failure to appear at any court proceedings to answer to an offense;
- 1888 (x) the nature and circumstances of the offense charged;
- 1889 (xi) whether the defendant is on bail pending adjudication of a prior charge;
- 1890 (xii) whether the acts alleged involve a crime of abuse as defined in section 57;
- 1891 (xiii) any history of orders issued against the defendant pursuant to section 18 or 34B of 1892 chapter 208, section 32 of chapter 209, section 3, 4 or 5 of chapter 209A or section 15 or 20 of 1893 chapter 209C;
- 1894 (xiv) any specific, articulable risk that the defendant might obstruct or attempt to obstruct
1895 justice or threaten, injure or intimidate or attempt to threaten, injure or intimidate a prospective
1896 witness or juror;
- 1897 (xv) whether the defendant is on probation, parole or other release pending completion of 1898 a sentence for another conviction; and

1899 (xvi) whether the defendant is on release pending sentencing or appeal for another 1900 conviction.

1901 (d) Bail commissioners and bail magistrates shall not impose a financial condition to 1902 assure the safety of any other person and the community, but may impose a financial condition 1903 on a defendant who is older than the age of criminal majority when necessary to reasonably 1904 assure the defendant's appearance as required. If the defendant represents in good faith that the 1905 defendant lacks sufficient financial resources to post the secured bond required by the bail 1906 commissioner or bail magistrate such that the defendant will likely be detained until the next day 1907 that court is in session, the bail commissioner or bail magistrate may impose the secured bond 1908 only if the bail commissioner or bail magistrate confirms, in writing, that the bail commissioner 1909 or bail magistrate considered the defendant's financial resources and explains why the 1910 defendant's risk of nonappearance is so great that no alternative, less restrictive financial or 1911 nonfinancial conditions will suffice to assure the defendant's presence at future court 1912 proceedings.

1913 (e) Where a bail commissioner or bail magistrate orders that a defendant who is younger 1914 than the age of criminal majority be detained until the next day that court is in session because no 1915 condition or combination of conditions will reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as 1916 required, the bail commissioner or bail magistrate shall provide findings of fact and a statement 1917 of reasons for the decision, in writing, explaining why no alternative, less restrictive condition or 1918 combination of conditions will suffice to assure the defendant's presence at future court 1919 proceedings.

1920 (f) Before issuing any release order under this section for a defendant who is released on 1921 bail pending adjudication of a prior charge or is on probation, the bail commissioner or bail

1922 magistrate shall contact the office of probation's electronic monitoring center to inform them of 1923 the defendant's arrest and charge.

1924 (g) In a release order issued under this section, the bail commissioner or bail magistrate 1925 shall advise the defendant of:

1926 (i) the consequences of violating a condition of release, including immediate arrest or 1927 issuance of a warrant therefor, revocation of release and the potential that the defendant may face 1928 criminal penalties, including penalties for intimidation of a witness under section 13B of chapter 1929 268; and

1930 (ii) if the defendant is charged with a crime of abuse, informational resources related to 1931 domestic violence which shall include, but shall not be limited to, a list of certified intimate 1932 partner abuse education programs located within or near the court's jurisdiction.

1933 (h) If the defendant in a case involving a crime of abuse is released from the place of 1934 detention, the arresting police department shall make a reasonable attempt to notify the victim of 1935 the defendant's release.

1936 (i) If a defendant is charged with a dangerous crime or a crime of abuse, the bail 1937 commissioner or bail magistrate shall order the defendant held until the next day that the court is 1938 in session if the bail commissioner or bail magistrate determines that no condition or 1939 combination of conditions will reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as required or 1940 the safety of any other person or the community.

1941 (j) When ordering detention under subsection (d) or (e), the bail commissioner or bail 1942 magistrate shall take into account information available concerning: (i) any relevant factors listed 1943 paragraph (2) of subsection (c); (ii) the weight of the evidence against the defendant; and (iii) the

1944 nature and seriousness of the danger to any other person or the community that would be posed 1945 by the defendant's release.

1946 (k) The terms and conditions of an order by a bail commissioner or bail magistrate shall 1947 remain in effect until the defendant is brought before the court for arraignment under sections 57, 1948 58 and 58A.

1949 (l) When a bail commissioner or bail magistrate releases a defendant on conditions under 1950 subsection (c), the bail commissioner or bail magistrate shall record the conditions and provide a 1951 copy of such conditions to the defendant and the detaining authority and shall transmit a copy to 1952 the court.

1953 (m) If a defendant released on conditions by a bail commissioner or bail magistrate under 1954 subsection (c) violates any of the conditions, that violation shall be enforceable under section 1955 58B.

1956 (n) Nothing in this section shall be construed to modify or limit the presumption of 1957 innocence.

1958 (o) Bail commissioners and bail magistrates authorized to release a defendant on 1959 recognizance, release a defendant on conditions or detain a defendant under this section shall be 1960 governed by rules established by the chief justice of the trial court of the commonwealth, subject 1961 to review by the supreme judicial court.

1962 (p) Nothing in this section shall authorize a bail commissioner or bail magistrate to 1963 release a defendant who has been arrested and charged with first or second degree murder.

1964 SECTION 183. Section 61A of chapter 276 of the General Laws is hereby repealed.

1965 SECTION 184. Said chapter 276 is hereby further amended by striking out section 61B,

1969 SECTION 186. Section 87 of said chapter 276, as appearing in the 2016 Official Edition, 1970 is hereby amended by striking out, in line 7, the figure “18” and inserting in place thereof the 1971 following words:- criminal majority.

1976 hereby amended by adding the following sentence:- No person placed on probation shall be 1977 found to have violated a condition of probation: (i) solely on the basis of possession or use of a 1978 controlled substance that has been lawfully dispensed pursuant to a valid prescription to that 1979 person by a health professional registered to prescribe a controlled substance pursuant to chapter 1980 94C and acting within the lawful scope of the health professional’s practice; or (ii) solely on the 1981 basis of possession or use of medical marijuana obtained in compliance with and in quantities 1982 consistent with applicable state regulations if that person received a written certification from a 1983 licensed physician for the use of medical marijuana to treat a debilitating medical condition and 1984 the person possesses a valid medical marijuana registration card and if the quantity in the 1985 person’s possession is not greater than the amount recommended in the physician’s written 1986 certification.

1987 SECTION 189. Said section 87A of said chapter 276, as so appearing, is hereby further 1988 amended by striking out the third paragraph and inserting in place thereof the following 1989 paragraph:-

1990 The court may waive payment of the fees if it determines after a hearing that such 1991 payment would impose a substantial financial hardship on the person or the person’s family or 1992 dependents. Following the hearing and upon a finding of hardship, the court may require any 1993 such person to perform unpaid community service work at a public or nonprofit agency or 1994 facility, monitored by the probation department, for not more than 4 hours per month in lieu of 1995 payment of a probation fee. A waiver shall be in effect only during the period of time that a 1996 person is unable to pay the monthly probation fee.

2003 pay the monthly probation fee.

2007 SECTION 192. Said chapter 276 is hereby further amended by striking out section 92, as 2008 so appearing, and inserting in place thereof the following section:-

2009 Section 92. (a) In a criminal case where the victim has suffered an actual economic loss 2010 that is causally connected to a crime for which the defendant has been convicted, has entered a 2011 plea of guilty or nolo contendere or has admitted to sufficient facts to warrant a finding of guilt, 2012 the court may order the defendant to make financial restitution to the victim for such loss as a

2013 condition of probation as set forth in this section. As used in this section, “defendant” shall 2014 include a delinquent child or youthful offender and “actual economic loss” shall mean the loss of 2015 money or property, excluding consequential damages or costs.

2016 (b) Before ordering restitution pursuant to this section, the court shall determine the 2017 appropriate length of any probationary period to be served by the defendant which shall be based 2018 on the amount of time necessary to rehabilitate the defendant and protect the public. The court 2019 shall not order a longer probationary period to enable the defendant to make restitution; 2020 provided, however, that if the court determines that there is no reason to impose probation other 2021 than to collect restitution, the court may impose a probationary period of 60 days or less for such 2022 purpose.

2023 (c) Before ordering restitution pursuant to this section, the court shall conduct an 2024 evidentiary hearing and make findings concerning: (i) the amount of actual economic loss 2025 suffered by the victim that is causally connected to the defendant's crime; and (ii) the amount of 2026 restitution that the defendant has the ability to pay monthly without causing substantial financial 2027 hardship, taking into account the defendant’s financial resources, including the defendant’s 2028 income and net assets and the defendant’s financial obligations, including the amount necessary 2029 to meet basic human needs such as food, shelter and clothing for the defendant and the 2030 defendant’s family or dependents. The defendant shall bear the burden of proving by a 2031 preponderance of the evidence an inability to pay; provided, however, that the court shall 2032 presume that a defendant under the age of criminal majority is indigent unless the court finds that 2033 the payment would not impose a substantial financial hardship on such person or the person’s 2034 family. At any such hearing, the victim may testify regarding the amount of the loss and the 2035 defendant may cross examine the victim, but such cross-examination shall be limited to the issue

2036 of restitution. The defendant may rebut the victim's estimate of the amount of loss with expert 2037 testimony or other evidence. The commonwealth shall bear the burden of proving by a 2038 preponderance of the evidence the amount of the actual economic loss suffered by the victim that 2039 is causally connected to the defendant's crime. The hearing need not address issues as to which 2040 the commonwealth and the defendant have reached an agreement that has been presented to the 2041 court, whether by written stipulation or as part of the defendant's plea of guilty or nolo 2042 contendere or admission to sufficient facts to warrant a finding of guilt. An agreement between 2043 the commonwealth and the defendant concerning the amount of the victim's actual economic 2044 loss shall be docketed by the clerk.

2045 (d) The total amount of restitution ordered by the court shall not exceed the lesser of: (i) 2046 the amount of actual economic loss suffered by the victim that is causally connected to the 2047 defendant's crime; or (ii) the amount of restitution that the defendant has the ability to pay 2048 monthly without causing substantial financial hardship, multiplied by the total number of months 2049 of probation ordered by the court in accord with subsection (b).

2050 (e) If the defendant is placed on probation with a condition that the defendant pay 2051 restitution to the victim and payment is not made at once, the court may order that the payment 2052 shall be made to the clerk of the court who shall give receipts for and keep a record of all 2053 payments made, pay the money to the person injured and keep a receipt therefor and notify the 2054 probation officer when the full amount of the money is received or paid in accordance with such 2055 order or with any modification thereof.

2056 (f) The court may modify the probation condition regarding the payment of restitution 2057 based on any material change in the defendant's financial circumstances.

2058 (g) If the court orders the defendant to make restitution under this section, the court may 2059 also issue a civil judgment in favor of the victim and against the defendant for the amount of the 2060 victim's actual economic loss that is causally connected to the defendant's crime, less the 2061 amount of restitution that the defendant has been ordered to pay. Upon the expiration or 2062 revocation of the defendant's probation, the victim or the commonwealth may, with notice to the 2063 defendant, request the court to amend the civil judgment to include any amount of restitution that 2064 the defendant has failed to pay in accord with the restitution order.

2065 (h) If the court does not order the defendant to make restitution under subsection (a), the 2066 court may, upon the request of the commonwealth, issue a civil judgment in favor of the victim 2067 and against the defendant for the amount of the victim's actual economic loss that is causally 2068 connected to the defendant's crime; provided, however, that: (i) the defendant shall have agreed 2069 to the amount of such loss as part of the defendant's plea of guilty or nolo contendere or 2070 admission to sufficient facts to warrant a finding of guilt; or (ii) the court has determined the 2071 amount of such loss after a hearing as provided in subsection (c).

2072 (i) A civil judgment issued under subsections (g) or (h) shall be enforceable by the victim 2073 or by the commonwealth acting on behalf of the victim in the same manner as any other civil 2074 judgment. In addition to the amount of the civil judgment, the victim shall be entitled to recover 2075 from the defendant reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred in enforcing or executing the 2076 civil judgment.

2077 (j) A civil judgment issued under subsections (g) or (h) shall be dischargeable in 2078 bankruptcy.

2079 (k) Nothing herein shall bar the victim from seeking recovery from the defendant in any 2080 other civil proceeding; provided, however, that any amount recovered by the victim pursuant to

2081 the court's restitution order or the civil judgment under subsections (g) or (h) shall be set off 2082 against any other civil claim by the victim for the same actual economic loss.
