The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the One Hundred and Ninety-Second General Court (2021-2022)

An Act to create uniform standards in use of force, increase transparency, and reduce harm in correctional facilities.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Chapter 127 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2018 Official Edition,
2 is hereby amended by adding the following subsections.

3 Section 170. Definitions.

4 The following definitions shall apply to Sections 170 through 170B:

5 “Choke hold”, the use of a lateral vascular neck restraint, carotid restraint or other action
6 that involves the placement of any part of a correctional officer’s body on or around a person’s 7 neck in a manner that limits the person’s breathing or blood flow with the intent of or with the 8 result of causing bodily injury, unconsciousness or death.

9 “De-escalation tactics and techniques”, proactive actions and approaches used by a 10 correctional officer to stabilize a situation so that more time, options and resources are available

11 to gain an incarcerated person’s voluntary compliance and to reduce or eliminate the need to use 12 force, including, but not limited to, verbal persuasion, warnings, slowing down the pace of an 13 incident, waiting out a person, creating distance between the correctional officer and a threat and 14 requesting additional resources to resolve the incident, including but not limited to calling in 15 medical or mental health professionals to address a potential medical or mental health crisis.

16 “Imminent harm”, when a person creating a risk has the present ability, opportunity and 17 apparent intent to immediately cause serious physical injury or death; provided, that imminent
18 harm shall not be merely a fear of future harm, but is a risk that, based on the information 19 available at the time, must be instantly confronted and addressed.

20 “Necessary”, when, after all available alternatives have been exhausted, no available, 21 effective alternative was known or should have been known to a reasonable person in the 22 circumstances, without regard to the subjective beliefs of the law enforcement officer.

23 “Totality of the circumstances”, the entire duration of an interaction between correction
24 officers and a victim of force, from the first contact through the conclusion of the incident, 25 including consideration of contextual factors the officer knew or should have known during such 26 interaction, including, but not limited to: (i) whether the officer’s conduct during the interaction
27 contributed to the risk of imminent harm to an identifiable person by the victim of force; (ii)
28 whether the officer attempted de-escalation tactics and techniques during the interaction; (iii) 29 whether a waiting or cooling off period could have prevented the use of force; (iv) whether the 30 officer made reasonable accommodations in light of the victim of force’s physical disability, 31 mental illness, developmental or neurological condition or disability, drug interactions, linguistic 32 limitations, then-existing mental, emotional or physical condition or other characteristics that

33 may have interfered with the victim of force's ability to cooperate or comply with an officer's 34 instructions; (v) whether the officer failed to call in a medical or mental health professional in 35 response to a potential medical or mental health crises; (vi) whether the officer gave any 36 warnings to the victim of force before undertaking a use of force or other escalation; and (vii)
37 whether the officer exacerbated the injury sustained by the victim of force by subsequent actions.

38 Section 170A. Minimum standards for use of force in all state prisons, jails, houses of 39 correction, or other correctional facilities.

40 Section 170A(a) No correctional officer shall use physical force upon another person 41 unless they have employed de-escalation tactics and techniques and, based on the totality of the 42 circumstances, such force is proportionate and necessary to: (i) prevent the escape from custody 43 of an incarcerated person or (ii) prevent imminent harm to an identifiable person, where the 44 amount of force used is proportional to the threat of imminent harm to the identifiable person.

45 (b) No correctional officer shall use a gun, TASER or other conducted electrical weapon, 46 or a chokehold against any incarcerated person.

47 (c) All planned entrance of cell procedures shall include a de-escalation period prior to 48 any use of force whenever this would not place any person at risk of imminent harm. The de-49 escalation period shall include assessment by a qualified medical/mental health professional, as 50 defined in section 1 of chapter 127, to determine whether the incarcerated person is capable of 51 understanding and complying with orders and/or whether mental health or other intervention
52 could assist to avoid use of force. The de-escalation period shall also include intervention by any 53 qualified staff person who shall (1) actively seek to resolve the issue without use of force, (2) 54 consider whether a cooling off period may assist in avoiding use of force, and (3) make

55 recommendations to supervisory staff regarding how force could be avoided. Before any 56 correctional officer enters the cell, supervisory staff shall implement any and all 57 recommendations made to avoid use of force, unless implementation of such recommendations 58 would place any person at risk of harm.

59 (d) Emergency entrance of cell procedures shall only be used when time is of the essence 60 where the failure to take immediate action would place a person at risk of imminent harm. If 61 emergency entrance of cell is being conducted because an incarcerated person is attempting or 62 committing suicide, chemical agents shall not be used.

63 (e) Correctional officers shall wear a personal audio-video recording device attached to 64 the officer's clothing, helmet, or sunglasses that is capable of capturing video and audio 65 recordings from the officer's point of view, which shall be activated during planned entrance of 66 cell procedures, emergency entrance of cell procedures and all other uses of force. Any officer 67 who fails to activate their body camera prior to a use of force shall be subject to disciplinary 68 action, up to and including termination. There shall also be handheld video recording of all 69 planned uses of force and all other uses of force where time permits video equipment to be 70 obtained, and shall be recorded from the best angle available that captures the incident in its 71 entirety. A correctional officer shall be prohibited from viewing or listening to any video or 72 audio recording prior to submitting a report regarding the use of force. All video recordings 73 from all activated personal audio-video recording devices, all fixed cameras and all handheld or 74 other cameras which captured any part of any use of force incident shall be made available to 75 any involved incarcerated person to review upon their request and copies shall be provided to 76 any person with the written release of any involved incarcerated person.

77 (f) Kinetic impact weapons and law enforcement K9s shall be prohibited in any planned 78 or emergency entrance of cell.

79 (g) Chemical agents shall be prohibited for use against any person with intellectual 80 disabilities, respiratory illnesses, or cardiac disease. Prior to the use of chemical agents, unless it 81 would place a person at risk of imminent harm, mental health staff must make every effort to 82 speak to the incarcerated person and affirm that they do not have a cognitive, psychiatric, or 83 other disability or impairment inhibiting their ability to understand or comply with staff orders.
84 Whenever chemical agents are used, all incarcerated people who have been exposed shall be 85 offered decontamination as soon as possible, including but not limited to an opportunity for a 86 shower and eye flush.

87 (h) A restraint chair shall only be used when it is the least restrictive means available to 88 prevent threat of imminent harm. An incarcerated person confined to a restraint chair shall be 89 checked by medical staff and offered an opportunity to exercise at least every thirty minutes
90 while in the restraint chair. An incarcerated person shall not be confined to a restraint chair any 91 longer than the restraint chair remains the least restrictive means available to prevent a threat of 92 imminent harm. A restraint chair shall never be utilized automatically following a use of force, 93 must be authorized in each instance by the Superintendent or designee, and the threat of 94 imminent harm that justifies use of the restraint chair shall in all cases be documented in writing, 95 with copies of the documentation provided to the incarcerated person upon request or to any 96 other person with release by the incarcerated person.

97 (i) K-9s shall be under the control of their handlers at all times while on correctional 98 facility property and shall never be permitted to roam freely on correctional facility property. K-

99 9s shall be used only to search for contraband and to search for fleeing escapees, and only with 100 prior approval by the Commissioner, Sheriff, Superintendent, or designee. K-9s shall not be used 101 in any use of force situations, for monitoring movement, or for routine internal patrol, except that 102 K-9s may be utilized if necessary as part of a coordinated response by a tactical team to a major 103 disturbance, defined as a riot situation or hostage situation where there is an immediate threat of 104 imminent harm. Incarcerated people shall be removed from any area where K-9s are conducting 105 contraband searches, and all other reasonable efforts shall be made to minimize contact
106 incarcerated people have with K-9s. If a K-9 bites or otherwise apprehends a person, the incident
107 must be documented in accordance with the correctional facility's use of force reporting 108 requirements. Color photographs must be taken of any injuries sustained and the photos must be 109 preserved in the original format for a period not less than ten years. All surveillance, handheld, 110 body camera, or other video recording from the area of the incident must be preserved for a 111 period of not less than ten years.

113 response by a tactical team to a major disturbance, defined as a riot situation or hostage situation, 114 where there is an immediate threat of imminent harm.

115 (k) All incarcerated persons shall have a right, including for purposes 169 of sections
116 11H and 11I of chapter 12, against the use of force prohibited by this section. A violation of this
