87 discretion of the judicial officer will reasonably assure the presence of a defendant, taking into 88 consideration the defendant’s ability to pay.

90 money if the defendant does not appear before the court on a date certain or fails to abide by any 92 amount being an amount that in the discretion of the judicial officer will reasonably assure the 93 presence of a defendant, taking into consideration the defendant’s ability to pay.

94 (b) Upon the appearance of a defendant charged with a crime, the judicial officer 95 shall hold a hearing, at which the defendant and his counsel, if any, may participate and inquire

96 into the case, to determine whether the defendant shall be released or detained pending trial of 97 the case, as provided in this section and sections 58, 58A, and 58B. At the hearing, the judicial 98 officer shall have immediate access to all pending and prior criminal offender record 99 information, board of probation records, out of state criminal records, and police and incident 100 reports related to the defendant, upon oral, telephonic, facsimile or electronic mail request, to the 101 extent practicable.

102 At the conclusion of such hearing, the judicial officer shall issue an order that, pending 103 trial, the defendant be:

104 (1) Released on personal recognizance under clause (A) of paragraph (1) of subsection 105 (b) of section 58;

106 (2) Released on financial or other conditions under clauses (B) or (C) of paragraph (1) of 107 subsection (b) of section 58;

108 (3) Detained under section 58A;

109 (4) Released on financial or other conditions under section 58A; or

110 (4) Temporarily detained to permit an opportunity for the attorney for the commonwealth 111 to move for revocation of conditional release under section 58B.

112 (c) For a person who is arrested and not released under section 59, a hearing under 113 section 58 shall take place no later than the next day that the superior, district, Boston municipal, 114 or juvenile court in the place of jurisdiction is in session, provided that, in a case that involves a 115 crime of abuse, (1) the commonwealth shall be the only party permitted to move for arraignment 116 within 3 hours of a complaint being signed by a magistrate or a magistrate's designee; and (2) a

117 defendant arrested, who has attained the age of 18 years, shall not be released sooner than 6 118 hours after arrest, except by a judge in open court.

119 Any hearing under section 58A shall be held immediately upon the motion of the 120 commonwealth unless the defendant, or the attorney for the commonwealth, seeks a continuance.
121 Except for good cause, a continuance on motion of the defendant may not exceed 5 business 122 days, and a continuance on motion of the attorney for the commonwealth may not exceed 3 123 business days. During a continuance, the individual shall be detained. The commonwealth may 124 move for an initial hearing under section 58A at any time before disposition of the case. Once a 125 hearing under section 58A commences, the defendant shall be detained pending completion of 126 the hearing.

127 In any pending case where the defendant has been first arraigned in the district, Boston 128 municipal, or juvenile court and is subsequently arraigned in superior court for the same or 129 related crimes arising out of the same incident, the superior court may conduct a new hearing 130 under section 58 or, upon motion of the commonwealth, section 58A, provided that any order of 131 the district, Boston municipal, or juvenile court concerning the defendant issued under section 58 132 or 58A shall remain in effect until such time as the superior court issues a new order under 133 section 58 or 58A. In any such new hearing in the superior court, the judicial officer shall 134 consider the defendant's compliance with any previously ordered conditions of release.

135 Any hearing under section 58 may be reopened by the judicial officer, and any hearing 136 under section 58A may be reopened by the judge. Any hearing under either section may also be 137 reopened upon motion of the commonwealth or the defendant, provided that the judicial officer 138 or judge determines by a preponderance of the evidence that: (1) information exists that was not

139 known to the movant at the time of the hearing or there has been a material change in 140 circumstances; and (2) such information or change in circumstances has a substantial bearing on 141 the issue of whether the defendant's detention, defendant's release on conditions, or conditions 142 imposed on the defendant are necessary and sufficient to reasonably assure the appearance of the 143 defendant and the safety of any other person and the community. In any such reopened hearing, 144 the judicial officer shall consider the defendant's compliance with any previously ordered 145 conditions of release.

146 Section 58. (a) Unless the attorney for the commonwealth has moved for detention under 147 section 58A, the judicial officer shall order the pretrial release of a defendant on personal 148 recognizance, subject to the condition that the defendant not commit a new crime during the 149 period of release, unless the judicial officer determines, in the exercise of his or her discretion, 150 that the release will not reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant or will endanger the 151 safety of any other person or the community.

152 (b) If the judicial officer determines, in the exercise of his or her discretion, that the 153 release described in subsection (a) will not reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant or 154 will endanger the safety of any other person or the community:

155 (1) the judicial officer shall order the pretrial release of the defendant subject to:

156 (A) the condition that the defendant not commit a new crime during the period of release; 157 and

158 (B) the least restrictive further condition, or combination of conditions, that the judicial 159 officer determines will reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant, which may include the 160 condition or combination of conditions that the defendant during the period of release shall:

- 161 (i) abide by specified restrictions on place of abode or travel;
- 162 (ii) report on a regular basis to a designated law enforcement agency, pretrial services 163 agency, or other agency;
- 164 (iii) refrain from use of alcohol, marijuana, or other intoxicants, and from use of any 165 controlled substance, except as prescribed or certified by a licensed medical practitioner;
- 166 (iv) submit to random testing to monitor compliance with any conditions ordered under 167 subclause (iii);
- 168 (v) comply with a specified curfew or home confinement;
- 169 (vi) undergo medical, psychological, or psychiatric treatment, including treatment for 170 substance or alcohol use disorder, if available, and remain in a specified institution if required for 171 that purpose;
- 172 (vii) submit to electronic monitoring, provided that any condition of electronic 173 monitoring may include either specified inclusion or exclusion zones or a curfew;
- 174 (viii) participate in a community corrections program pursuant to chapter 211F; 175 provided, however, that the defendant shall consent to such participation;
- 176 (ix) participate in a notification program pursuant to subsection (c);
- 177 (x) provide an unsecured or secured bond to satisfy a financial condition that the judicial 178 officer may specify; provided that a financial condition shall be set in an amount no higher than 179 what would reasonably assure the appearance of the person before the court after taking into 180 account the person's financial resources; provided, however, that a higher than affordable 181 financial condition may be set if neither alternative nonfinancial conditions nor an amount which 182 the person could likely afford would adequately assure the person's appearance before the court; 183 and provided further that for crimes that do not carry a penalty of incarceration, no secured bond 184 may be ordered unless the defendant has previously failed to appear on that charge; and 185 (xi) satisfy any other condition that is reasonably necessary to assure the appearance of 186 the defendant; and

187 (C) the least restrictive further condition, or combination of conditions, that the judicial 188 officer determines will reasonably assure the safety of any other person and the community, 189 which may include the condition or combination of conditions that the defendant during the 190 period of release shall:

191 (i) refrain from abusing and harassing any alleged victim of the charged crime and any 192 potential witness who may testify concerning the charged crime;

193 (ii) stay away from and have no contact with an alleged victim of the charged crime and 194 with any potential witness who may testify concerning the charged crime;

195 (iii) refrain from possessing a firearm, rifle, shotgun, destructive device, or other 196 dangerous weapon;

197 (iv) comply with restrictions on personal associations, a curfew or home confinement;

198 (v) refrain from use of alcohol, marijuana, or other intoxicants, and from use of any 199 controlled substance except as prescribed or certified by a licensed medical practitioner;

200 (vi) undergo medical, psychological, or psychiatric treatment, including treatment for 201 substance or alcohol use disorder, if available, and remain in a specified institution if required for 202 that purpose;

203 (vii) submit to electronic monitoring, provided that any condition of electronic 204 monitoring may include either specified inclusion or exclusion zones or a curfew;

205 (viii) satisfy any other condition that is reasonably necessary to assure the safety of any 206 other person and the community.

207 (2) When setting any conditions under clause (B) of paragraph (1), the judicial officer 208 shall consider where relevant the following factors concerning the defendant:

209 (A) financial resources;

210 (B) family ties;

211 (C) any record of convictions under the laws of the commonwealth or the laws of 212 another state, the United States, or a military, territorial or Indian tribal authority;

213 (D) potential penalty the defendant faces;

214 (E) any illegal drug distribution or present drug dependency;

215 (F) any employment record;

216 (G) any history of mental illness;

217 (H) any flight to avoid prosecution or fraudulent use of an alias or false identification;

218 (I) any failure to appear at any court proceedings to answer to a charge;

219 (J) any prior violation of conditions of release, probation, or parole, or of a temporary or 220 permanent order issued under section 18 or 34B of chapter 208, section 32 of chapter 209, 221 section 3, 4 or 5 of chapter 209A or section 15 or 20 of chapter 209C;

222 (K) the nature and circumstances of the crimes charged;

223 (L) whether the defendant was, at the time of the crime charged, on release pending 224 adjudication, sentencing or appeal of a prior charge;

225 (M) whether the defendant was, at the time of the crime charged, under the supervision 226 of the commissioner of probation, the parole board or any other comparable authority of this or 227 another state or of the federal government.

228 (3) When setting any conditions under clause (C) of paragraph (1), the judicial officer 229 shall consider where relevant the following factors concerning the defendant:

230 (A) any factors listed in clauses (B) through (M) of paragraph (2);

231 (B) whether the acts alleged involve a crime of abuse;

232 (C) any history of orders issued against the defendant pursuant to section 18 or 34B of 233 chapter 208, section 32 of chapter 209, section 3, 4 or 5 of chapter 209A or section 15 or 20 of 234 chapter 209C; and

235 (D) any risk that the defendant will attempt to obstruct justice, or attempt to threaten, 236 injure, or intimidate a prospective witness or juror.

237 (4) In establishing any financial condition under clause (B) of paragraph (1), any order 238 must comply with the following requirements:

239 (A) A judicial officer may not impose a financial condition to assure the safety of any 240 other person or the community, but may impose a financial condition when necessary to 241 reasonably assure the defendant's appearance.

242 (B) Where it appears, based on credible evidence, that the defendant lacks sufficient 243 financial resources to post any secured bond required by the judicial officer, such that requiring 244 such secured bond will result in the long-term pretrial detention of the defendant, the judicial 245 officer must provide findings of fact and a statement of reasons for the decision, either in writing 246 or orally on the record, confirming that the judicial officer considered the defendant's financial 247 resources and explaining why the defendant's risk of non-appearance is so great that no 248 alternative, less restrictive financial or nonfinancial conditions will suffice to assure the 249 defendant's presence at future court proceedings and explaining how the amount was calculated 250 after taking the person's financial resources into account and why the commonwealth's interest 251 in a financial condition outweighs the potential adverse impact on the person, their immediate 252 family or dependents resulting from pretrial detention.

253 (C) When reconsidering or reviewing a financial condition in a case where a defendant 254 has been detained due to his inability to meet the financial condition, a judicial officer shall 255 consider the length of the defendant's pretrial detention and the equities of the case.

256 (5) If the judicial officer imposes a financial condition, the clerk and assistant clerks of 257 the court shall accept, without charging any fee, any money tendered in satisfaction of such 258 financial condition during the regular business hours of that court.

259 (6) Before ordering the release of any defendant charged with a crime against the person 260 or property of another, the judicial officer shall comply with the domestic abuse inquiry 261 requirements of section 56A.

262 (7) In a release order issued under this section, the judicial officer shall:

263 (A) Include a written statement that sets forth all the conditions to which the release is 264 subject, in a manner sufficiently clear and specific to serve as a guide for the defendant's 265 conduct; and

266 (B) If the defendant is not released on personal recognizance or unsecured bond, include 267 a written summary of the reasons for denying such release and detailed reasons for imposing any 268 financial condition; and 269 (C) Advise the defendant of:

270 (i) The consequences of violating a condition of release, including immediate arrest or 271 issuance of a warrant for the defendant's arrest, revocation of release, and, if applicable, the 272 potential that the person may face criminal penalties, including penalties for violating section 273 13B of chapter 268; and

274 (ii) If the defendant is charged with a crime of abuse, informational resources related to 275 domestic violence, which shall include, but shall not be limited to, a list of certified intimate 276 partner abuse education programs located within or near the court's jurisdiction.

277 (c) A person who has been charged with a crime shall provide the court with his or 278 her cellular telephone number, if the defendant has such a device, unless the defendant opts out 279 of the service provided under this subsection; provided, however, that upon the order of a

280 judicial officer pursuant to subclause (ix) of clause (B) of paragraph (1) of subsection (b), a 281 defendant may not opt out of such service. The court shall provide a service using a system of 282 automated text messaging to remind criminal defendants of mandatory court appearance dates in 283 advance of the date of such appearance. The court shall keep all information provided by a 284 criminal defendant pursuant to this subsection confidential, and such information may not be 285 used in any proceeding; provided, however, that the fact that a defendant did or did not 286 participate in this system shall be marked on the docket and may be used in a proceeding if 287 otherwise admissible.

288 (d) There shall not exist in the case of a person charged with murder a right to release 289 pending trial; provided, however, that a judge may in his or her discretion, order a defendant so 290 charged released subject to any conditions enumerated in paragraph (1) of subsection (b).

291 Section 58A. (a) Upon motion of the attorney for the commonwealth, the judge shall 292 hold a hearing to determine whether any condition or combination of conditions set forth in 293 section 58 will reasonably assure the safety of any other person and the community, in a case:

294 (1) where the defendant is charged with a dangerous crime; or

295 (2) where the defendant is charged with a crime for which the potential penalty includes a 296 sentence to the house of correction or state prison and 297 (A) the defendant has been convicted of a dangerous crime, or has been convicted of a 298 like violation of the laws of another state, the United States or a military, territorial or Indian 299 tribal authority; or

300 (B) there are specific, articulable facts and circumstances demonstrating a serious risk 301 that the defendant may attempt to obstruct justice, or attempt to threaten, injure, or intimidate a 302 law enforcement officer, an officer of the court, or a prospective witness or juror in any criminal 303 investigation or judicial proceeding.

304 (b) (1) If, after a hearing, the judge finds by clear and convincing evidence that no 305 condition or combination of conditions will reasonably assure the safety of any other person and 306 the community, the judge shall order that the defendant be detained pending trial. Such order 307 shall:

308 (A) include written findings of fact and a written statement of the reasons for the 309 detention;

310 (B) direct that the defendant be committed to a corrections facility separate, to the extent 311 practicable, from persons serving sentences; and

312 (C) direct that the defendant be afforded reasonable opportunity for private consultation 313 with counsel.

314 (2) If, after a hearing, the judge does not issue an order under paragraph (1), the 315 defendant shall be released, pursuant to section 58, on personal recognizance or unsecured bond 316 or on such conditions as the judge determines to be necessary to reasonably assure the safety of 317 any other person and the community.

318 (c) In conducting a hearing under this section:

319 (1) the judge shall take into account available information concerning:

320 (A) any of the factors listed in paragraph (3) of subsection (b) of section 58 where 321 relevant; and

322 (B) the nature and seriousness of the danger to any person or the community that would 323 be posed by the defendant's release;

324 (2) the defendant shall have the right to be represented by counsel at a hearing under this 325 section and, if financially unable to obtain adequate representation, to have counsel appointed;

326 (3) the defendant shall be afforded an opportunity to testify;

327 (4) the defendant shall be afforded an opportunity to present witnesses, to cross-examine 328 witnesses who appear at the hearing, and to present information by proffer or otherwise;

329 provided, however, that before issuing a summons to an alleged victim, or a member of the 330 alleged victim's family, to appear as a witness at the hearing, the defendant shall demonstrate to 331 the court a good faith and reasonable basis for believing that the testimony from the witness will 332 be material and relevant to support a conclusion that the defendant should not be detained; and

333 (5) the law concerning admissibility of evidence in criminal trials shall not apply to the 334 presentation and consideration of information at a hearing under this section.

335 (d) When a defendant has been released pursuant to section 58 and the attorney for 336 the commonwealth subsequently files a motion seeking to detain the defendant under this 337 section, the attorney for the commonwealth may file such motion ex parte. Upon such ex parte 338 filing, the court may, for good cause shown, issue a warrant for the defendant's arrest to secure 339 his presence for such hearing. Any such hearing shall occur as otherwise set forth in this section.

340 (e) A defendant detained under this section shall be detained until the disposition of 341 the case and shall be brought to trial as soon as reasonably possible.

342 (f) Nothing in this section shall be construed as modifying or limiting the 343 presumption of innocence.

344 Section 58B. (a) A defendant who has been released after a hearing pursuant to section 345 58, 58A, 59 or 87 and who has violated a condition of his release, shall be subject to a revocation 346 of release and an order of detention following a motion by the attorney for the commonwealth 347 and a hearing as provided below. If there is probable cause to believe that, while on release, the 348 defendant committed a felony or a dangerous crime a rebuttable presumption shall arise that no 349 condition or combination of conditions will assure that the person will not pose a danger to the 350 safety of any other person or the community.

351 (b) The judge shall enter an order of revocation and detention if after a hearing the 352 judge finds:

353 (1) that there is probable cause to believe that the defendant has committed a felony or 354 dangerous crime while on release; and

355 (2) by a preponderance of the evidence, that there are no conditions of release that will 356 reasonably assure the defendant will not pose a danger to the safety of any other person or the 357 community, or the defendant is unlikely to abide by any condition or combination of conditions 358 of release.

359 (c) The judge may enter an order of revocation and detention if after a hearing the 360 judge finds that there is probable cause to believe that the defendant has committed any crime

361 while on release or clear and convincing evidence that the defendant has violated any other 362 condition of release.

363 (d) If, following a hearing under this section, the judge does not issue a revocation 364 order, the judge may issue a release order that may include any condition or combination of
