67           SECTION 5. Section 4 of Chapter 151B of the General Laws is further amended by 68 inserting the following subsection: -

69           (1F) (a) For an employer, by itself or its agent, not to provide a reasonable 70 accommodation to an employee or prospective employee who is experiencing or has experienced 71 abusive behavior, or whose family member is experiencing or has experienced abusive behavior, 72 if the employee or prospective employee requests an accommodation related to the abusive 73 behavior; provided, however, that an employer is not required to provide an accommodation if 74 the employer can demonstrate that the accommodation would impose an undue hardship on the 75 employer's business.

76 (b) For an employer, by itself or its agent, to (i) discharge, or in any other manner 77 discriminate against, an employee for exercising the employee's rights under this subsection, 78 including requesting or using an accommodation under this subsection; (ii) refuse to hire, or in 79 any other manner discriminate against, a prospective employee for exercising the prospective 80 employee's rights under this subsection, including requesting or using an accommodation under 81 this subsection; (iii) require an employee or prospective employee who requests an 82 accommodation under this subsection to accept an accommodation that the employee or 83 prospective employee chooses not to accept if that accommodation is unnecessary to enable the 84 employee to perform the essential functions of the job; (iv) require an employee to take leave if a 85 reasonable accommodation may be provided that permits the employee to perform the essential 86 functions of the job without undue hardship to the employer's business; or (v) make 87 preemployment inquiry of a prospective employee as to whether the prospective employee will 88 require a reasonable accommodation under this subsection, unless the prospective employee first 89 voluntarily discloses to the employer, or employer's agent, a situation that would qualify the 90 prospective employee for a reasonable accommodation under this section.

91 (c) As used in this subsection, the following words shall have the following meanings 92 unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

93 "Accommodation" means a temporary or permanent adjustment to a job structure or 94 schedule, workplace facility, or work requirement that enables an employee who is a victim of 95 abusive behavior, or whose family member is a victim of abusive behavior, to be safe or to

96 address issues directly related to the abusive behavior, including but not limited to (i) more 97 frequent or longer paid or unpaid breaks; (ii) transfers, reassignments, or schedule changes; (iii) 98 changing a work phone number, email address, or any other work contact, electronic or 99 otherwise; (iv) installing or changing locks or work access mechanisms; (v) assisting with 100 documentation of the abusive behavior; (vi) implementing safety procedures; or (vii) prohibiting 101 the perpetrator of the abusive behavior from being on the workplace property or limiting the 102 perpetrator's access to the workplace property or portion thereof where the employee works; 103 provided, however, that an employer shall not be required as part of providing a reasonable 104 accommodation to discharge or transfer another employee or promote an employee who is not 105 able to perform the essential functions of the job with or without a reasonable accommodation.

106 "Undue hardship" shall mean an action requiring significant difficulty or expense;
107 provided, however, that the employer shall have the burden of proving undue hardship; provided 108 further, that in making a determination of undue hardship, the following factors shall be 109 considered: (i) the nature and cost of the needed accommodation; (ii) the overall financial 110 resources of the employer; (iii) the overall size of the business of the employer with respect to 111 the number of employees and the number, type and location of its facilities; and (iv) any other 112 impact of the reasonable accommodation on the employer's business.

113 (d) Upon the employer's receipt of a request from an employee or prospective employee 114 for an accommodation under this subsection, the employee or prospective employee and the 115 employer shall engage in a timely, good faith, and interactive process to determine an effective, 116 reasonable accommodation.

117 (e) All employers will provide written notice to their employees of the right to be free 118 from discrimination due to status as a victim of abusive behavior and of the right to a reasonable 119 accommodation related to the abusive behavior. Such notice may be provided in a handbook, 120 pamphlet, or other means of notice regularly used by the employer. In addition, all employers 121 will provide such notice to (i) all new employees at the beginning of their employment and (ii) 122 any employee or prospective employee who informs the employer that the employee, or 123 prospective employee or family member of the employee or prospective employee, is a victim of 124 abusive behavior not more than five days after the employer is so informed.

125 (f) Subject to appropriation, the commission shall develop courses of instruction and 126 conduct public education efforts as necessary to inform employers, employees, and employment 127 agencies, and, to the extent possible, the general population, about the rights and responsibilities 128 established under this subsection not more than 180 days after the appropriation. Employers are 129 encouraged to conduct an education and training program for new employees and members 130 within one year of commencement of employment that includes information on the nature and 131 extent of abusive behavior, issues of privacy and confidentiality, and the availability of 132 reasonable accommodations. Employers are encouraged to conduct additional training for new 133 supervisory and managerial employees within one year of commencement of employment that 134 includes information on the nature and extent of abusive behavior, issues of privacy and 135 confidentiality, and the availability of reasonable accommodations.

136 (g) This subsection shall not be construed to preempt, limit, diminish, or otherwise affect 137 any other law relating to leave or to abusive behavior, provided, however, that to the extent the 138 reasonable accommodation requested pursuant to this section is a leave of absence, that leave 139 need not exceed the amount of leave permitted under section 52E of chapter 149.

140 (h) An employer may require any employee or prospective employee requesting an 141 accommodation under this subsection to provide documentation evidencing that the employee, 142 the prospective employee, or a family member of the employee or the prospective employee is a 143 victim of abusive behavior; provided, however, that an employer may not require the employee 144 or prospective employee to produce, but may consider, documentation concerning the reasonable 145 accommodation itself, including its type, form, scope, or duration; provided further, that an 146 employer shall not require the employee or prospective employee to show evidence of an arrest, 147 conviction, or other law enforcement documentation for such abusive behavior. The employee 148 or prospective employee shall provide such documentation to the employer within a reasonable 149 period after the employer requests such documentation, such reasonable period not to be shorter 150 than 30 days. The employer must provide a reasonable accommodation in a timely manner and 151 may not delay providing reasonable accommodation pending receipt of the documentation; 152 provided that if the employee or prospective employee requests that the accommodation begin 153 before such documentation can be provided, the employee or prospective employee shall provide 154 the documentation to the employer within 30 days of requesting the accommodation. The 155 employer may periodically require the employee to provide documentation showing continued 156 need for any temporary accommodation, but no more often than every six months or when the 157 employer learns of a significant change in the situation that necessitated the accommodation. The 158 provision of any documentation provided to an employer under this paragraph does not waive or 159 diminish the confidential or privileged nature of communications between a victim of abusive 160 behavior and one or more individuals named in this paragraph.

161 The employer may maintain any documentation provided under this paragraph only in a 162 separate, confidential file and only for as long as required for the employer to make a

163 determination as to whether the employee is entitled to a reasonable accommodation under this 164 subsection.

165 The employee or prospective employee shall satisfy the documentation requirement by 166 providing any one of the following documents to the employer concerning the abusive behavior 167 against the employee, prospective employee, or family member of the employee or prospective 168 employee, and the employer may not require the employee or prospective employee to provide a 169 specific type of documentation from among the following documents:

170 (1) A protective order, or an order of equitable relief or other documentation, issued by a 171 court of competent jurisdiction as a result of such abusive behavior, including but not limited to 172 an order issued pursuant to chapter 209A or chapter 258E;

173 (2) A document under the letterhead of a court, public agency, or social service, health 174 care, or other service provider that the victim of such abusive behavior attended for the purposes 175 of acquiring assistance as it relates to the abusive behavior;

176 (3) A police report or statement of a victim or witness provided to police, including a 177 police incident report, documenting such abusive behavior;

178 (4) Documentation that the perpetrator of such abusive behavior has been convicted of, 179 has been adjudicated a juvenile delinquent by reason of, or has admitted to sufficient facts to 180 support a finding of guilt of any offense constituting such abusive behavior;

181 (5) Documentation of health care treatment as a result of such abusive behavior;

182 (6) A sworn statement, signed under the penalties of perjury, provided by a counselor, 183 social worker, health care worker, member of the clergy, shelter worker, legal advocate, or other

184 professional who has assisted the victim of such abusive behavior in addressing the effects of 185 such abusive behavior;

186 (7) A sworn statement, signed under the penalties of perjury, from the victim of such 187 abusive behavior attesting to such abusive behavior; or

188 (8) Any other form of documentation or relevant evidence that reasonably corroborates or 189 certifies that the employee, prospective employee, or family member of the employee or 190 prospective employee is a victim of abusive behavior.

191 (i) An employee or prospective employee requesting an accommodation under this 192 subsection is not required to produce any documentation to, or discuss any information with, the 193 employer that would in any way compromise the safety of the victim of the abusive behavior, 194 and an employer is prohibited from requiring any such production or disclosure except to the 195 extent such documentation or information is necessary to provide or effectuate the 196 accommodation, to protect the safety of the employee or others employed at the workplace, or to 197 enable the employer to satisfy legal obligations.

198 (j) An employer shall maintain the confidentiality of all documentation and information 199 provided by the employee or prospective employee related to the abusive behavior, including 200 that the employee, prospective employee, or employee's family member is a victim of abusive 201 behavior or that the employee or prospective employee has requested or obtained a reasonable 202 accommodation under this subsection, except under the following conditions: (i) the employee or 203 prospective employee requests or consents in writing that such documentation or information be 204 disclosed; (ii) the employer is ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or administrative 205 agency to disclose such documentation or information; (iii) disclosure is otherwise required by

206 applicable federal or state law; (iv) disclosure is required in the course of an investigation 207 authorized by law enforcement, including, but not limited to, an investigation by the attorney 208 general; or (v) disclosure is necessary to protect the safety of the employee or others employed at 209 the workplace or to provide or effectuate the accommodation.

210 (k) No employer shall (i) coerce, interfere with, restrain, or deny the exercise of, or any 211 attempt to exercise, any rights provided under this subsection or (ii) make reasonable 212 accommodations requested or taken hereunder contingent upon whether or not the employee, 213 prospective employee, or victim of the abusive behavior maintains contact with the alleged 214 abuser.
