Current Law:

MGL Chapter 175 Section 193B- Motor vehicle insurance; instalment payments
Section 193B. Insurance companies may accept payment of motor vehicle insurance premiums in instalments under plans, rates and charges approved by the commissioner as equitable and nondiscriminatory.

Summary:

Insurance providers cannot charge a fee for processing an electronic transaction without providing written notification to the customer.

This means that insurance companies must inform customers in writing before charging a fee for processing electronic transactions. This bill aims to provide transparency and prevent unexpected fees from being charged to customers for electronic transactions related to insurance policies.
