JOURNAL OF THE SENATE.

Thursday, October 27, 2011.

Met according to adjournment at one o'clock P.M. (Mr. Welch in the Chair.)

Distinguished Guests.

There being no objection, the President handed the gavel to Mr. Tarr for the purpose of an introduction. Mr. Tarr then introduced, in the rear of the Chamber, Andrew Garfield and Lisa Hogan. They are the founders and owners of Glevum Associates LLC, a Burlington company that specializes in conducting Face-to-Face Research and Analysis in conflict and post-conflict societies. Andrew is the company's President and Lisa is the CEO. Glevum has operated in Afghanistan and Iraq since 2007. The company's clients represent a wide range of academic, governmental and media interests. Glevum currently works with five Afghan and two Iraqi research partners, employing over 1,500 Afghan and Iraqi research managers and supervisors, pollsters, moderators and interviewers. This gives Glevum an unrivaled field research capability that enables the company to develop, field, process and analyze larger survey projects in as little as 60 days, all while operating in the most extreme conditions and in the midst of major combat operations.

Earlier this month, Andrew and Lisa travelled to the Inc 500 awards in Washington, DC, where they were recognized as one of the seven "Faces of Inc 500 2011" after Glevum placed 141st on Inc's list of top 500 companies.
