Adjourn In Memory of Robert "Sidewalk Sam" Guillemín

The Senator from Middlesex and Norfolk, Ms. Creem moved that when the Senate adjourns today, it do so in memory of Robert Guillemín, a beloved Public Artist in the Boston area for over 40 years.

Mr. Guillemín became famous under the pseudonym, "Sidewalk Sam", drawing reproductions of artistic masterpieces and creating new works with chalk and paint on sidewalks and public spaces around the metropolitan area.

Mr. Guillemín believed in bringing art to public spaces so that passersby could encounter beautiful works more haphazardly and more freely than they might in a museum. He even joked that art should be "pedestrian". He was also committed to art education and public art participation with people of all ages, abilities and histories.

He was born in Dayton, Ohio and after graduating from the University of Illinois, he earned a Master's of Fine Arts at Boston University. He then went on to attend classes at the Ecole Des Beaux Arts while working at the Louvre Museum in Paris. He eventually returned to Boston where he taught art, organized a union of artists and, with his wife Tina, launched Artstreet, a nonprofit that promotes art as a part of daily life.

In 1984, he was named official Screever of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In 1994, he fell while working on his roof, and from that time, remained paralyzed from the neck down. He never wavered in his commitment to public art, and after that time could be seen leaning from his wheelchair to complete public art projects. He remained active as well in advocating for government funding for the arts, and for causes he believed in.

Newton resident Robert "Sidewalk Sam" Guillemín will be missed by his wife Tina; twin boys, Robert of Brookline and John of Warsaw, Poland; two brothers, Victor of Cambridge and Richard of Duxbury; a sister, Marie of California; two grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Accordingly, as a mark of respect in memory of Robert "Sidewalk Sam" Guillemín, at twelve minutes past eleven o'clock A.M., on motion of Mr. Timilty, the Senate adjourned to meet again on Monday next at eleven o'clock A.M.
