JOURNAL OF THE SENATE.

Thursday, July 20, 2017.

Met at a quarter minutes past eleven o'clock A.M.

The Senator from Norfolk, Bristol and Middlesex, Mr. Ross, then led the President, members, guests and staff in the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Pledge of allegiance.

Distinguished Guests.

There being no objection, the President handed the gavel to Ms. Creem for the purpose of an introduction. Ms. Creem then introduced, in the rear of the Chamber, Alison Safran from Newton. Alison is the founding director of Surviving in Numbers, a website and poster campaign initially designed for the internet and for college campus assaults to support victims of rape and domestic violence in their healing process. This week her posters portraying the experiences of victims of sexual violence are covering columns on the 4th floor outside the House Gallery. The Senate applauded her accomplishments and she withdrew from the Chamber. She was accompanied by her father, Alan Safran and volunteer, Antonio Gutierrez.

Moment of silence.

Adjournment in Memory of Alan D. Sisitsky.

The Senator from Hampden and Hampshire, Mr. Lesser, moves that when the Senate adjourns today, it adjourns in memory of former Senator Alan Sisitsky of Springfield, who died at the age of 75.

Born and raised in Springfield, Massachusetts, Alan attended the Springfield Public Schools. He went on to receive a bachelor's degree from Cornell University, a master's degree in political science from Harvard University and a doctor of laws from Yale University.

Alan was elected as a Massachusetts State Representative from 1968 to 1972 in the 7th Hampden District and as a Massachusetts State Senator from 1972 to 1982, where he served the people of the former Hampden and Berkshire District. After serving in the state government, Alan worked as a practicing attorney in Springfield.

Over his numerous decades serving in the Legislature, Alan worked on a number of important policy initiatives. Most notably, he worked on court reform legislation in 1978 that moved the Massachusetts Trial Court system from county to state agency oversight, an important change that largely remains in place to this day. Alan was regarded as an expert in auto insurance, who helped establish the auto insurance rating bureau among other related policy successes. He also championed the Commonwealth's Open Meeting Law and the establishment of Massachusetts' first rape shield law, barring the introduction of a victim's sexual history at trial. A champion for Western Mass through and through, Alan sponsored the legislation that established a Housing Court for Western Massachusetts.

Alan fought many battles and achieved victories that often involved challenging the status quo, and at times in the face of strong institutional opposition.

Alan was known as a fighter, a fierce advocate, and a defender of "the little guy" according to those who knew him. He dedicated himself fully to helping both constituents and his district.

Alan Sisitsky was a proud husband, father, brother and uncle. He is survived by his wife Carol Sisitsky, his son Thomas Hodges, his brother Mark Sisitsky, and his two nephews Todd and Peter Sisitsky.

We thank Alan for his tireless service to the Commonwealth and to Western Massachusetts. He will be dearly missed

Accordingly, as a mark of respect to the memory of Alan D. Sisitsky, at twenty-seven minutes before five o'clock P.M., on motion of Mr. Tarr, the Senate adjourned to meet again on Monday next at eleven o'clock A.M.
