Subsequently, Ms. Creem, for the committee, reported, that from an examination of the returns, it appears the Honorable Cindy F. Friedman had been duly elected to the Fourth Middlesex district.

The report was read and accepted and the committee was discharged.

Remarks of Senator Cindy F. Friedman.

Senator Friedman briefly addressed the Senate as follows:

Thank you President Rosenberg and thank you to my new colleagues for your very warm welcome.

As I told my supporters on the night of the election – it takes a village to raise a child but it takes a district to raise a senator – or at least people who live throughout the district who are caring, courageous, smart, committed, and positive and know how to have a good time. And that pretty much describes my campaign team who I credit for getting me to this place.

What we were able to accomplish in 10 weeks was nothing short of amazing and I need to spend a bit of time acknowledging that.

First, I need to say a special thanks to the Donnelly Family – Judy, Ryan, Keith, and Brenna. Without their encouragement and support, I simply would not be standing here today.

I want to thank my exceptional co-chairs, Brenna Donnelly and Jay Kaufman, who were always gracious and available and willing to help at the drop of a hat. Which they did often.

My wonderful campaign leads, Deborah Brown and Clarissa Rowe, who provided unwavering support and understanding and an even hand over productive chaos.

To Carl Nilsson, Chelsea Ouellete, and Karly Wagner, who developed and Senator Cindy F.

Friedman,-- remarks.

implemented a field plan that was perfect from conception to implementation.

To Jay Cincotti and Michael Goldman, who provided perspective and kept me laughing.

To our wonderful campaign manager, Jess Lieberman, who we threw into the deep end of a whirling, churning pool and asked her to learn how to swim... and she did.

We had a top notch literature team led by Kathryn Gandek-Tighe, who produced 10 pieces of first-class literature in 10 weeks and got every piece out on time.

To Eric Helmuth, Noah Slafer, and Kristina Gaffny, who did a brilliant job with our technology, website, and social media, and taught us old dogs a thing or two along the way.

To Dave and Steph Swanson, who can turn a policy questionnaire around on a dime if any of you ever need help.

To Brian Rehrig, who truly is a data guru and helped us target exactly who we needed to get our vote out.

To Lisa Pedulla and her fundraising prowess and ability to get a very reluctant candidate to make cold calls, which is becoming legendary – especially the last part.

And to the amazing volunteers who didn't stop calling or door-knocking regardless of 95 degree days, torrential downpour, kids' field days, graduations, sports banquets, or long-planned family vacations. Over 250 people volunteered over 8 weeks.

And I want to acknowledge my wonderful family – my kids Matt, Sheila, Tim, Rory, and Abe, grandchildren Declan and Oliver, my sisters and brother-in-law Jane, Lee, and David, and my wonderful brother Steve. And I know we both wish our Dad was here. He loved this stuff!

And last and finally, to my husband John. Without him, I could not do this. His encouragement and belief in me was unwavering. I am very lucky to be married to a man for the last 36 years who really does believe that a women's role is whatever she wants it to be. He talks the talk and walks the walk on women's equality and I trust and depend on his keen sense of right and wrong and his moral compass without question. I know I will continue to need it, I'm sure. Thank you, John.

So... Here I am – standing in a place I never thought in a million years I would be standing.

And I am excited, humbled, and heartbroken to be here.

Excited to continue work that means so much to me. Excited to represent the great people of the 4th Middlesex district. Excited to work so that Massachusetts continues to be an innovative state and a great place to live for everyone.

I am humbled by the faith so many have put in me to be their representative in the senate.

And I am heartbroken because this path was opened for me at the expense of losing one of my dearest friends.

A tireless champion of the voiceless. Ken Donnelly's kindness, caring, courage, and integrity went to the core of his very being. Nobody believed more in the fundamental goodness of people. Nobody knew how to fight harder or think smarter when a worthy cause presented itself or someone was in need.

And he did it without ever making the fight personal or losing sight of the humanity of the opponent on the other side of the argument. He was one-of-a-kind and working with him for the past 9 years was not only my favorite job but doing so has made me a far better person. I deeply miss him, especially standing here today in this place and among all of you.

I can't fill his shoes or take his place. But as a state senator, I promise to work as hard and to represent the core beliefs that reflected Ken and his life and that we shared.

That we are responsible to and for each other. That our security and well-being depends as much on those around us being safe and secure as any wealth or power we may accumulate.

That everyone should have a solid roof over their heads, and equal economic opportunities that will allow them to adequately provide for themselves and their families.

That everyone should have access to great and affordable healthcare and an education that will allow them to succeed and that they can afford.

That we are responsible for leaving a clean world to our children and grandchildren.

That everyone deserves to be safe in their communities and to be respected for who they are, no matter who they are.

These are the values that will guide me. I will not be perfect and I will make mistakes along the way. But this is a job well worth doing and I know with the support and engagement of my family, friends, constituents, and colleagues, I am ready for the challenge.

Thank you so much.

On motion of Ms. Chandler, the above remarks were ordered printed in the Journal of the Senate.

Adjourn In Memory of Paul K. Fernandes

The Senator from Norfolk, Bristol and Plymouth, Mr. Timilty, moved that when the Senate adjourns today it do so in memory of Randolph Town Councilor Paul K. Fernandes.

Randolph Town Councilor Paul K. Fernandes passed away last week. He was truly dedicated to the people of Randolph. Councilor Fernandes committed himself to various roles in town government for more than two decades with one goal in mind: To enhance the quality of life in the town of Randolph and in doing so make a difference in the lives of his neighbors.

In 1994, Councilor Fernandes embarked upon his service to the Town as a member of Finance Committee, later serving as the committee's chairman for four years. In 2004, Councilor Fernandes was elected as a town selectman and served in that capacity for several years, including one year as Chairman of the Board of Selectmen. As a Selectman and later as a Town Councilor, Fernandes helped navigate the town's transition through a change to its charter, which replaced the town meeting form of government with a town council and town manager. Councilor Fernandes was a member of the Town Council from its inception in 2010 until his tragic passing, serving as Town Council President in 2015.

In addition to his formal roles in town government, Councilor Fernandes gave back to his community through his involvement with the Randolph Community Partnership adult education program and the STARS extended day program. He, along with his wife Mary, was an active participant in the Randolph Chamber of Commerce. Moreover, he served on the Board of Directors of Beth Israel Deaconess in Milton.

Councilor Fernandes is survived by his devoted wife Mary, his beloved children, and grandchildren. He will be sorely missed by his family, his neighbors and friends, and the entire Randolph community.

Councilor Fernandes will be remembered for his selfless service, his positive demeanor, and his outstanding character.

Adjourn In Memory of Mitchell D. Chester

The Senator from Middlesex, Mr. Lewis, and the Senator from Suffolk, Ms. Chang-Diaz, moved that when the Senate adjourns today it do so in memory of Mitchell D. Chester.

Commissioner Chester was the grandson of immigrants and the son of a school superintendent, Herbert Chester, and Zelda Chester, who went back to school and became an educator after raising her children. Mitchell started his career as an elementary school teacher in Connecticut, then became an assistant principal at a middle school, and eventually a district curriculum coordinator. From there, he rose the ranks through the Connecticut State Department of Education and served in leadership roles for the Philadelphia Public Schools and the Ohio Department of Education. He was appointed Massachusetts' elementary and secondary education commissioner in 2008.

Commissioner Chester held a doctorate in administration, planning and social policy from Harvard University, as well as advanced degrees from the University of Connecticut and the University of Hartford.

To people who did not know him well, Massachusetts Elementary and Secondary Education Commissioner Mitchell D. Chester could be a formal and reserved education official, one with a tremendous intellect and the ability to quickly synthesize and analyze mammoth amounts of information.

People who had a chance to see him interact with children, however, saw another side of him, one that was glad to join in a game on field day, read a favorite Dr. Seuss book, or learn from children what was happening in their classroom and school. He listened wherever he went, to students, educators, parents, researchers, policymakers, community members, and colleagues, and when he didn't understand a point, he'd ask them to try again, saying, "Say that again in a different way." By listening, Mitchell could find ways to make practical their suggestions and address their needs.

He took what he learned from people and from his own studies and used it to continuously improve the Commonwealth's public elementary and secondary schools until they were the best in the country. When he passed away from an illness at 65 last month, Dr. Chester was the longest serving of the country's current chief state school officers and a sought-after voice on school and district turnaround, assessment, and other education topics.

In a message following Commissioner Chester's death, Education Secretary James Peyser said Commissioner Chester "was often called upon to make difficult and at times controversial decisions. In all cases, he did so with humility, compassion and thoughtfulness. But in making those tough decisions, he also acted with courage and decisiveness. He was not afraid to do what he thought was right, and in the vast majority of cases, history will show that he was right."

The commissioner also built a strong and devoted team who worked with districts on everything from college and career pathways to graduation rates. Graduation rates continued to rise every year during Commissioner Chester's tenure, and the number of dropouts per year fell by more than 4,000.

Mitchell was a polarizing figure to many. But those who worked with him up close or over time knew him as a thoughtful, earnest, and deeply caring education leader. He had a largely thankless job: when anybody was angry about paperwork requirements on public schools, or state intervention in schools deemed underperforming, it was his name they would invoke with ire. But he wouldn't get thank-you notes when Massachusetts consistently topped multiple charts in public education, or when English language learners got more qualified teachers because of better training requirements. I didn't agree with Mitchell 100% of the time. But his was a critical role in calling the question for largely invisible kids – kids stuck in the achievement and opportunity gap. Mitchell took that responsibility to heart; he never lost focus on it, and he pursued it with deep intellect, tenacity and reflection. I was glad he was there. And Massachusetts is the better for his service to us.

Commissioner Chester leaves his wife Angela Sangeorge and son Nicholas of Winchester; four other adult children, Mikhail Chester and wife Rebecca of Scottsdale, Arizona, Jamie Rose and wife Trinity of Surprise, Arizona, Tiffany Rose of Falmouth and Sarah Chester of Somerville; two granddaughters, Darien and Brooklyn, and grandson Ethan Mitchell Chester born just last week. Commissioner Chester is also survived by his brother Phillip and wife Emily Chester of West Hartford, Connecticut and his sister Jan Chester of Sarasota, Florida.

Accordingly, as a mark of respect in memory of Paul K. Fernandes and

UNCORRECTED PROOF.

Mitchell D. Chester, at twenty-eight minutes past four o'clock P.M., on motion of Mr. Tarr, the Senate adjourned to meet again on Monday next at eleven o'clock A.M.
