Hi, Erin.

I'm going to give you a call, because there may be another problem related to this.

Best regards,
Fred

Thanks, Donna, for the confirmation. That's what I thought. It's very possible that it doesn't work in ATLAS.

Best regards,
Fred

Hi Fred,
In ALARS NH did electronically transfer violations to MA. I am not sure if this process is active in ATLAS.

Subject: Reporting of DWIs and other violations from New Hampshire

Good afternoon.

Please see the attached correspondence. My understanding is that many states send records of out-of-state violations that occurred under a Massachusetts license by mail to either DCU or MRB, and that those violations were previously manually entered on the SOC screen in ALARS, and currently into ATLAS. However, I also recall that New Hampshire may have been able to report these violations electronically, so that they were recorded on the SOC screen in ALARS without manual entry being required. If so, with the system conversion to ATLAS, this electronic reporting may no longer be operational. I left a voice message for the customer informing that his concerns would be forwarded to the appropriate personnel for review as an internal matter.

Best regards,
